WALLS BLOW DOWN; I KILLED PANIC ON THE FERRY-BOATS

ALAMEDA WOMAN HURT

A Great Many People in Danger.

ALAMEDA, Dec. 10.—About one hundred lives were endangered, one woman injured, buildings were damaged to the extent of $2000, and all telephone and power wires were torn from their fastenings, when the wooden covering of the 200,000-gallon water tank on the top of the building of the Contra Costa Water Company on Park street, between Central and Santa Clara avenues, was hurled to the west side of Park street in the clutches of the southeast wind which swept this city about 10 o'clock this morning.

WOMEN ENDANGERED.

In the grasp of the wind, the covering of the tank was torn loose and carried across Park street through plate glass windows, piercing the roofs of the buildings as if were made of tissue paper, and through the wires of the Oakland Traction Company and Municipal Light Plant, and the telephone company, striking horses lined across the street and throwing them to the ground.

Where the pine-grooved boards of the tank covering struck the roofs of the building on the west side of the street, they pierced through, and a number of young women working in the stores had narrow escapes.

ESCAPES DEATH.

Miss May Rhodes was seated at a desk in the Konigshofer dry-goods store, when the scantlings and flooring of which the roof was made crashed through a skylight, carrying the glass with it, and piled upon a table at which she was seated. In some miraculous manner, the young woman escaped injury.

The store was immediately closed and the girls dismissed, pending the clearing of the wreckage. The plate glass windows of the store were shattered into small pieces.

At the Alameda Bakery the wooden covering of the tank pierced the roof and ceiling, and remained suspended in the ceiling while the girls in the basement flocked into the street.

WALL TORN AWAY.

HIGH WIND AND RAIN DOES GREAT DAMAGE ON SEA AND SHORE

Trees and Fences Blown Down and Shipping Is Badly Hampered.

The storm of last night and today has resulted in considerable damage in this city and vicinity. The wind has blown down fences and trees and the rain has swollen the streams in the country districts and stopped up many sewers and gutters in this city.

Professor Burckhalter, when seen at the Chabot Observatory this morning, stated that the wind had been blowing at an average rate of twenty-five miles an hour during the night, and that it was not as bad as has been thought. Burckhalter asserted that the wind is a high one and was only felt in small, brisk gusts about this city. He would not predict the length or severity of the storm.

MANY TREES SUFFER.

The Superintendent of Streets' office received many reports of trees which had succumbed to the fierce blow during the night and had blockaded traffic on various streets about the city. These obstructions are being removed as rapidly as possible.

Superintendent of Streets Ott stated that many of the culverts about the city had been stopped up by debris during the night, but no damage had resulted. The culverts have been cleaned out, wherever reported obstructed, and the street gangs are occupied in this work alone.

Ott visited East Oakland this morning and states that but little damage has been done, with the exception of fallen trees and fences.

TROUBLE WITH SEWERS.

He has feared trouble with some of the sewers in those sections of the city where the land has been filled in, but so far there have been no obstructions.

The storm hovered over this city all day yesterday and rain commenced to fall about eleven o'clock last night. The clouds have been black and ominous all morning and it is feared that a heavier storm will be experienced.

The wind has blown at a terrific rate all day over the bay, and as a result shipping has been hampered.

BAY IS ROUGH.

San Francisco bay is rougher today than it has been for many years back. The ferry boats have difficulty in getting into the slips safely, which causes much delay.

In the strip of water betwen the Oakland Mole and Goat Island, the boats toss and careen wildly, and many signs of evident distress can be noted amongst the passengers.

The wind is much stronger on the bay than it is ashore, driving the rain in sheets.

All work is suspended on the Oakland waterfront, as it would be almost an impossibility for anyone to work on the pitching vessels that are moored at the docks.

Extra lines are in use on all the vessels, which moor them tightly to the wharves, and all vessels with large deckloads have them lashed down securely.

Vessels have great difficulty in passing through the draw-bridges, as they have a very narrow space to sail through, which is a very difficult feat

BUSINESS PARALYZED BY FIERCE STORM IN UNIVERSITY TOWN

Police and Firemen Are Called to Save Residences From Falling Trees.

BERKELEY, Dec. 10.—A fierce southwester which has been blowing for the past fourteen hours in Berkeley, combined with the heavy rainstorm, has made itself felt to the extent of damaging property and putting a practical stop to retail business. Few householders care to venture forth in the gale, and hundreds of commuters, hearing the reports of rough weather on the bay, refrained from making their customary trip to San Francisco. Many went as far as the mole on the Southern Pacific, but seeing the waves lashed to fury by the wind and the big boats tossing about on the troubled waters, as if they were but cork, hastened back to Berkeley on the return train.

From 11 o'clock until 1, traffic on the Key Route has been suspended. A windmill blew down at the corner of Spaulding avenue and Dwight way, and in many parts of the town chimneys, window shutters and other projections that were easily susceptible to damage from the storm, blew into the streets.

HOME THREATENED.

At an early hour this morning Town Assessor Wharff called upon the police and fire departments to help him save his home from destruction which is threatened by a great shade tree that has been partially uprooted by the storm. After an hour's work the firemen, assisted by a couple of police officers, managed to brace the tree so that if it is blown down it will fall clear of the house.

The wind lashed telephone wires from the poles and in other places trees fell across the wires, partially demoralizing the telephone and electric light service. Linemen are out in all parts of the town, however, and as fast as these breaks occur they are being repaired.

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS DAMAGE DONE

Scores of Buildings About the Bay Are Injured.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10.—A southeast gale sweeping along the coast at a registered velocity of 48 miles an hour, today resulted in the death of one man in San Francisco and in the severe injury of several others. Shipping in the harbor was damaged considerably and in all quarters of the city tottering walls were hurled to the ground, blocking streets and interrupting traffic. Owing to danger from falling walls, street-car service was entirely suspended for a time and it is said at the company's office that if the gale continues no cars will be operated through the burned district.

KILLED BY A FALLING WALL

John Rynehart, a laborer employed at the corner of Stockton and Broadway streets, was caught under a falling wall and was taken out dead. One of his companions, Adrian Esniol, was so severely injured that his life is despaired of. In every section of the burned district, ruins were razed, and that no more deaths were recorded is considered remarkable.

Two frame houses, one at the corner of Washington and Leavenworth streets, the other near Leavenworth and Broadway, were leveled by the gale, and numerous chimneys were blown into the streets. The Burnett school was unroofed and the roof of the Bernal school was also torn off and blown away. At the Fairmont school a high board fence was blown into the street.

Rynehart and Esniol were caught beneath the walls of a building in course of construction at the corner of Stockton street and Broadway. The former, who arrived last week from Chicago, was employed as a plumber. With a helper, he was sitting in the basement of the building. A sudden blast of wind caused the entire structure to give way.

Eugene Eber was struck by a falling cornice at Fillmore and Sutter streets and his leg fractured.

Earl Temple was blown through a skylight at Gough and Grove streets. He suffered concussion of the brain.

Some of the remaining walls of the Palace and Grand Hotels were blown into the street, effectually blocking the car tracks on Market street, the main thoroughfare of the city.

In places surrounded by the greatest danger, policemen stretched lines of rope across the street and allowed no pedestrians or wagons to pass.

WOMEN ON BOATS FAINT

On the bay the storm was terrific, ferry boats proceeding with great difficulty. The lower decks were awash most of the time and the crests of the waves leaped onto the hurricane decks.

FIERCE STORM SWEEPS CITIES ABOUT THE BAY

The commuters were in panicky state of mind They tested the frames containing life preservers, talking of what they would do should the boat turn turtle

What threatened to result in a serious panic occurred on the Key Route boat San Francisco when an unusually large wave struck the vessel, careening her to leeward Women screamed and fainted, men rushed for the life belts, and only the advice and command of the cool-headed prevented injury and perhaps loss of life among the other passengers

BIG SHIPS SLIP MOORINGS

Double anchor chains did not prevent some of the larger vessels in the harbor from slipping their moorings The Chinese war junk Whang Ho, which lay south of the ferry slips last night, dragged her anchors until she rested in the channel immediately in front of the ferries, increasing the difficulties of navigation

Tossed about by the enormous strength of the gale, the British ship Palgrave slipped her moorings this morning and drifted on the rocky shore of Alcatraz Island, the Government fortification in San Francisco bay Two tugs went to the assistance of the disabled vessel and succeeded in pulling her off the rocks

The tugs had succeeded in getting the vessel into the stream again when the Palgrave was again overtaken by an unusually heavy blast, which carried her and the tugs onto the rocks again Although a heavy sea is running, the tugs are valiantly standing by the vessel and are endeavoring to pull her off the rocks a second time.

A section of the roof of the Oregon Navigation Company's dock at the foot of Spear street about 200 feet long was blown off and the freight thus exposed was considerably damaged by the rain

The decks of the ferry boat Berkeley were swept by a wave as she was crossing the bay in the teeth of the gale and several passengers were almost swept overboard Much difficulty was experienced by the boats in making their landings especially on the eastern side of the bay At the narrow gage pier the water was so rough that the passengers were fifteen minutes getting off the boats in some places water was washed entirely over the pier

The building of the Roswell Furnishing Company on Sixteenth street near Guerrero was prostrated as also were several small structures in that district of the city

The British ship Palgrave Captain Coutts with a pilot before on Alcatraz Island is a four masted iron vessel 266 feet 8 inches long 40 feet 2 inches beam and 23 feet 4 inches deep Her tonnage is 2187 She was built at Glasgow in 1884 by W Hamilton & Company

Three hundred thousand dollars is the estimated loss of four of San Francisco's largest firms by reason of the damage done by today's storm This afternoon the large building at the corner of Polk and Van Ness avenue gave in before the fury of the storm and all the valuable merchandise housed there was ruined

The building was occupied by the Mann Trunk Company the Hohemann Pharmacy and the Meiji Art Company The loss through this district is said to be about $ 0 000

The building occupied by the California Notion and Toy Company at 600 Post street collapsed just before noon and the larger portion of the stock was destroyed The underwriters stated that they could but the firm will suffer to the extent of nearly $100 000

SAN FRANCISCO Dec 10—Fully one half million dollars worth of damage was done to stores and other buildings in San Francisco last night and this morning owing to the terrific storm that has been raging hereabouts and it is known that one man was killed Fully fifty buildings have either collapsed or their roofs have been blown in A British ship went on the rocks near Alcatraz Island and the majority of the vessels in the bay have dragged their anchors At Broadway and Stockton street a Joseph Ringharoo was instantly killed by the collapse of a building The old Poodle Dog walls at Leidig and Mason streets fell over on the new city hall in course of construction causing several thousand dollars damage At Hyde and Pacific streets a three story building collapsed and at Broadway and Leavenworth streets Fourth and Church and Harrison and Tenth streets frame buildings were blown over

TROUBLE AT DRAWS.

One vessel a gasoline schooner, took thirty minutes to do so

The water washes over the decks and the booms swing wildly to and fro with every gust of wind

The vessels are all tugging fiercely at their moorings and there is danger of some of them breaking away and doing much damage to the shipping and dock in the harbor

Many wires are reported to be down in different sections of the county and telephone service is quite badly crippled

The rainfall for the past twenty-four hours ending at 1 p m today was 82 of an inch making 3 06 inches for the season as compared with 1 72 inches at the corresponding date last year

This afternoon the Key Route system is at a standstill neither cars nor boats running Earlier in the day a car crowded with passengers was stalled in the subway the power giving out the rear of the Helmken building at 1429 Park street was torn away, when a huge scantling struck it The wreckage crashed through the plate glass windows of the Hall candy store, through a skylight in the roof of the Zingg billiard parlor and onto the pool tables. A sign at the Zingg cigar store, made of heavy metal, was torn from its fastenings and carried a block away.

PEOPLE MENACED.

A large number of people were walking along Park street when the roof of the tank broke loose, with a ripping sound All eyes were turned toward the building, and as the wind carried the wreckage toward the street, a wild scramble was made to get into the stores. When the wreckage pierced the roofs and ceilings, the people flocked back onto Park street That none were seriously injured seems a wonder.

POLICE IN CHARGE.

Chief of Police Conrad and his men immediately took charge of the street, and ropes were thrown across, which blocked all traffic. These ropes prevented a number of runaways, for at the time the roof blew off, a large number of horses were on the streets, and as the wind would carry the timbers down Park street, a number of the horses started to run away.

All of the power wires were down, and the Oakland Traction Company's cars stopped, and as many of the wires were charged, it was extremely dangerous to pass along Within an hour, a large force of men was at work clearing away the wreckage, and all that was visible to tell the story were the broken windows and shattered roofs.

Photograph of Mrs. Chevaillier of Texas Advertised as Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy.

BOSTON Dec 4 1906

Alfred Farlow, General Manager of the Committee on Publication for the Christian Science Church today gave out the following statement

"McClure's Magazine in the December issue published a picture which is represented as a photograph of Mrs Eddy taken in 1882 It is not a picture of Mrs. Eddy but is a likeness of Mrs Sarah C. Chevaillier who formerly lived in Boston and who died in California two years ago This fact is incontestibly established by the affidavit of Mrs Chevaillier's son which appears in this article We have in our possession the picture of Mrs Chevaillier, which we have just received from her son, and which is an exact duplicate of the one used by McClure's

"In connection with this portrait McClure's publishes an editorial announcement of a story relating to the Rev. Mary Baker G Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science It is stated that as a result of a careful investigation the story is probably as near absolute accuracy as history ever gets Indeed the introduction in question lays great stress upon the accuracy of its proposed history Again it is said Practically no assistance can be obtained from Christian Scientists themselves that she (Mrs Eddy) refuses to be consulted personally on the main facts of her own life

"It should be stated that according to the custom McClure's representative who applied to Mrs Eddy for an interview was referred to the committee on Publication who is specially appointed for the purpose of rendering any assistance in his power to the representatives of the public press who may be gathering data on the subject of Christian Science and its Leader

"In a conversation with members of McClure's staff several months ago I informed them that if they would submit their data to me I would be pleased to assist them in their verification giving them as my reason that there were documents in circulation and rumors afloat which were not genuine They have not availed themselves of my offer

"Notwithstanding the facts which we have stated we find in this editorial announcement a picture of another woman which is represented by McClures as a portrait of Mrs Mary Baker G Eddy taken in Boston in 1882 The picture does not in any point resemble Mrs Eddy

"On November 9th and before the December number of McClure's was placed on the news stands I wrote to the Managing Editor of McClure's apprising him of the error but received no reply My letter follows

"I have just been looking at the advertisement which you have given in Ridgways of the 17th inst In the center of the page is a picture which I assume is represented as a portrait of Mrs Eddy I hasten to inform you that this is not a picture of Mrs Eddy there is nothing about it that would remind one of her I have seen Mrs Eddy frequently during the past twenty two years and know her face well enough to draw a likeness of it if I were an artist—therefore I speak from positive knowledge

"It was my fear that you might be imposed upon by just such counterfeits that impelled me to suggest that your manuscript relating to Mrs Eddy be submitted to someone thoroughly posted concerning the events of her life

"Directly under the McClure portrait is a modern signature of Mrs Eddy which might give the impression that it had been written on this photograph by Mrs Eddy This of course could not possibly be true since the portrait is not a likeness of Mrs Eddy and never was in her hands Beneath one of the genuine portraits appended to this statement we publish a facsimile of Mrs Eddy's signature as she wrote it in 1882

"When called upon to produce the photograph from which the picture was made and to give the name of the photographer the editor of McClure's declined saying he would give what information he could a few days later

"I then went to work to obtain evidence by which I could disprove McClure's allegation and show the public that another face had been substituted for that of Mrs Eddy

"The following affidavits and photographs are the result of my investigation

James B. Barber Tells of the Good Work Done in His Office.

The duties of the tax collector are not easy matters of just collecting the coin due the county for property, for when the taxes come rolling in at the rate of over a million dollars per month Tax Collector Barber and his twelve deputies are kept on a continual jump

The amounts to be collected this year exceed those of the past The total amount to be collected last year was $1 800 000 while this year the amount charged to the Tax Collector's office on the second Monday in October was $2 009 708 23 On the first installment which became delinquent November 26th, $1 861 874 44 was collected leaving a balance of $647,823 79 for the second installment of which $47 196 12 is due on the first installment The amount delinquent on the first installment exceeds last year's figure by about $6000

The second installment does not become delinquent until the last Monday in April

The big rush of the first installment was felt in the Tax Collector's office during the ten days preceding November 26th

The amount collected in November from the fifth to the twenty sixth was $1 198 201 26 and for the preceding month only $168 673 18 came into the coffers of the Tax Collector's office The work of County Tax Collector James B Barber and his twelve deputies was much heavier than when the rush was or for the paying of the first installment for the county taxes in 1906 It seems that everybody waits until the last possible day to avoid the delinquency of their property to pay the taxes which greatly increases the labors of the collector

GAY LOTHARIO OF RACE TRACK

Elopes With Beautiful Girl—Her Mother's Diamonds Are Said to Be Missing.

Assisted by an automobile and with their destination a profound secret two well-known Oakland society people eloped on Saturday afternoon It is said that the story of stolen jewelry will play no small part in the history of this romance

The parties to the affair are Harry Holley, a well known clubman formerly manager of the Reliance Athletic Club, and for a long time a trusted employe of the auditing department of the Southern Pacific Railroad in this city and Estelle the seventeen-year-old daughter of Mrs M Cunningham a wealthy lady who resides on Twelfth street near Jefferson

Back of the elopement is a graver charge made against both Holley and Miss Cunningham as the distracted mother claims that her beautiful daughter and her modern Lochinvar have taken with them diamonds and other valuable jewelry to the value of $800

HOLLEY HAS RECORD.

The police are keeping the wires busy with descriptions of the fugitives Holley is well known in society and sporting circles in this city When he was manager of the Reliance Club, about two years ago he fell desperately in love with Miss Woolley a beautiful young woman of Sacramento whom he met at the Hotel Touraine At the same time she was receiving the attentions of Melbourne McDowell the actor, who also was madly in love with her The engaging manners of Holley however won the day as against the more mature attractions of the former husband of Fanny Davenport and she married Holley.

A member of the Reliance Club one night referred to this love affair in the clubroom and Holley soundly thrashed him As a consequence he severed his connection with the club as manager

Since that time he has been employed in the auditing department of the Southern Pacific Railroad About two months ago he came to the office late one morning and was discharged by Auditor Dewey for making an insolent reply to a reprimand He then mysteriously disappeared and his distracted wife applied to the police to aid her in finding her husband who she thought had committed suicide He subsequently turned up and his wife and he had a disagreement and she went back to her parents at Sacramento

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT

Latterly Holley has been frequenting the racetrack and did some work for a bookmaker there Some time ago he met Miss Estelle Cunningham who is described as a singularly beautiful and accomplished girl It was a case of love at first sight and they decided to elope Saturday afternoon Holley came up Twelfth street in an automobile and Miss Cunningham has ily left her mother's house and getting into the machine with a satchel supposed to have contained her mother's diamonds they started for the suburbs at a break-neck speed and soon disappeared

Mrs Cunningham shortly afterward discovered the loss of her daughter and valuables and at once notified the authorities who are busy hunting for the missing couple

Supervisor Rowe of the Fourth district objected to both appointments but the remaining three officials voted aye to the resolutions

Supervisor Kelly in presenting the appointments for adoption referred to the increased hospital work since the earthquake and the necessity of having professional men in charge of the institution

Supervisor Rowe in objecting to the appointments declared the positions at smaller salaries to be worth considerable to the attending physicians as, he stated nearly all persons treated became eventually pay patients He cited one instance where a patient originally treated at the receiving hospital was worth $600 to the physician who attended him at the institution

Dr O D Hamlin assigned to the charge of the hospital is one of the most popular surgeons of Oakland and a practitioner whose appointment assures efficient management

WILL ASK FOR FRANCHISES

Seven Applications for Railroads Will Be Considered by Council This Evening.

Seven applications for railway franchises will be considered this evening by the committee of the whole of the city council The Western Pacific company the Santa Fe and the San Francisco, Oakland & San Jose Railway Company have applications filed for franchises to construct and operate lines in this city The three companies are all petitioning to obtain a right of way along Wood street in West Oakland as well as other streets

The committee will also consider the passing to print of the ordinance granting to the Belt Line of Oakland a franchise to run a line from the southern extremity of Nineteenth avenue south of the right of way of the Central Pacific in East Oakland to the eastern side of the north arm of the estuary

WHAT MAYOR FAVORS.

Mayor Mott favors granting franchises to all the companies making a belt line along Wood street The mayor has the following to say

I am heartily in favor of having a belt line road that shall encircle the whole city and that shall be open to the use of any road that may be here now or that may hereafter desire to come here This would be to the great advantage of the city as well as to the various roads themselves as it would insure any company building to the city limits an entrance into the heart of the city for they could use the belt line tracks and then lay out grounds and spur tracks at a convenient place reached by the belt line

It should be so constructed as to give them all access to the water front and an equal chance at fighting for the city's business, which is now too important to be overlooked by any road and thus the city would derive inestimable benefit in its march to greatness which has so auspiciously begun

I think the plan of suggesting to the three companies asking for a franchise that the privilege will be granted providing they agree to unite in bearing the expense of constructing the line and sharing in operating it is a feasible one and would provide an excellent solution of the problem that seems to be staring us in the face I presume the matter will be taken up by the city council this evening and possibly the applicants will think such a scheme a good one It is hard to tell just what a railroad company is driving at, for sometimes it asks for a franchise when it doesn't want one, but if all three of these companies are sincere in their request and it would seem natural that they should each want a line where they have outlined it this should prove an excellent scheme in settling the matter

It seems to me that the Santa Fe company should have asked for the privilege of coming down town through this route long ago since it is mandatory on the council to grant it and thus have provided for a terminal in the center of town but they failed to do so Now we should provide a line that all may use not only for present but for future companies

MACDONOUG THEATER.

First nighters will enjoy a genuine revel at the Macdonough tonight when the popular and accomplished star, Miss Maxine Elliott will be seen here for the first time in the Clyde Fitch comedy "Her Great Match" Unless the verdict of playgoers in almost every city in the country is reversed, Oakland is sure to find Miss Elliott's present vehicle the most pretentious and satisfying of her achievements since she entered the field of individual stardom

It is a capital play one of Mr Fitch's very best and it is done in superb fashion by Miss Elliott and her excellent company in fact this gifted actress has never appeared to better advantage than in the role of Jo Sheldon an American girl of the manner born It is one of those womanly parts which Miss Elliott understands perhaps better than any one else how to play A fine company will appear in Miss Elliott's support

STORM SWEEPS THE BAY CITIES

Much Damage is Done Here and in San Francisco Today.

Wild scenes of disorder and panic followed the crashing of a dead wall through the roof of a shirt factory at 338 Brannan street. Two men were seriously injured in the rush for safety and others were more or less hurt. Fortunately there were no fatalities in the terrible stampede. When order had been restored, two of the workers were missing. They are K. Kane and N. Eardo, men who had been in the employ of the factory for many years. A number of their fellow workers volunteered to enlist in the search for the missing men. They once more entered the building, which was weakened by the impact of the falling wall and swayed dangerously in the hurricane. Both Eardo and Kane were found lying in the upper story, and although both were conscious, neither was able to help himself. Had it not been for the brave rescue work, the two men would certainly have perished. However, they were dragged to places of safety and later removed to the Harbor Emergency Hospital. Eardo, it was found, was suffering from lacerated wounds on the scalp and eyebrow. His companion had numerous contusions and three lacerated wounds on the scalp.

In addition to those already mentioned, the following persons were treated at the Harbor Emergency Hospital:

E. B. Wooliver, of 24 Sacramento street; injured at Market and First streets; fracture of right leg.

H. K. Blowse, Jones and Broadway streets; lacerated wound of the scalp.

H. A. Hayes, 1322 Guerrero street; injured at Bush and Market streets; lacerated wound of the scalp.

The hardware store of Joost Brothers gave way under the awful strain and their building was completely wrecked. The damage will amount to $5000.

Flats which were being erected at Valencia and Sixteenth streets were toppled over by the gale. The other sets of flats on the same street near 24th which were also in course of construction were completely wrecked.

The spire of St. Peters church, corner of Sixth and Alabama streets, was carried away and set down by the wind some distance further on. The roof of the Durant school on Bush and Buchanan streets, met the same fate.

Flats on the east side of Guerrero street between 16th and 17th streets collapsed under the force of the gale. Two flats on Church street between Market and Waller were not built strongly enough to withstand such a violent tempest and collapsed.

On Church and Fourteenth streets a two-story building was being remodeled into stores, making it three stories in all. The supporting pillars were of flimsy construction and the whole building came tumbling down.

It will take days, perhaps weeks, to restore the street car system of this city. This will be made more difficult by reason of the fact that in every instance the overhead trolley came down with the buildings. Policemen were stationed at every wreck to warn people against danger from live wires. The United Railroads started a gang at work to cut these wires and thus prevent accidents.

The 5 buildings in the 1200 block on Sutter street collapsed, the damage amounting to about $20,000.

The Emporium, the White House, the Alexander Yost Hardware Company and several other of the down town stores, which were very loosely constructed, suffered perhaps greater damage than anything else in San Francisco. The goods in the stores are all rolled, the walls have collapsed and the places are all badly wrecked. It is estimated that the damage to these places alone will reach the half-million dollar mark.

The California Notion and Toy Company suffered about $10,000 damage, and Joost Bros., at Tenth and Mission streets, suffered correspondingly from the rain and wind.

All the stores in San Francisco have been closed on account of the storm. About twenty temporary school buildings have been s badly damaged by roofs blowing in, windows breaking and walls collapsing, that it will take many hundred dollars to repair them.

The steeple of St. Peter's Church was blown over, and all over the city can be seen countless evidences of the fierceness of the storm.

The walls of the Poodle Dog restaurant, at the corner of Mason and Eddy streets collapsed, destroying the temporary hall of justice, in course of construction on the side of the old Tivoli Opera House.

At Point Reyes the wind reached a velocity of sixty miles an hour and fears are entertained for the safety of shipping along the coast.

WOMAN WANTS THE EARTH

Fruitvale Madam Asks Supervisors for Grading Ground in Popular Phrase.

Mrs. H. Walther of Fruitvale this morning asked the Board of Supervisors "for the earth," and by unanimous consent of the officials the woman was granted her request.

The paragraph of her letter which contains her request, which was so read by Clerk Cook to cause a suffusion of smiles, is as follows:

"As I understand you are intending to grade Davis street and remove a considerable quantity of earth, which work will be only a short distance from my place; now I ask you to please give me the earth which will be removed in grading."

Supervisor Talcott was the only one of the board who did not hear the woman's uniquely worded application, but upon being explained to him, he smiled and assented approval with his fellows.

FURTHER TIME IS ASKED BY SCHMITZ AND RUEF

The Attorneys for Accused Men Interpose Joint Motion in Judge Dunn's Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10.—When the motion of Mayor Schmitz and Abraham Ruef to quash the indictments against them for extortion on the ground of "prejudice and bias," came up for hearing in Judge Dunne's court today, the attorneys for the accused men asked for further time on the ground that subpoenas are to be issued for members of the grand jury in the Nicholas-Duffy case.

Though the defendants interposed a joint motion, their lawyers explicitly stated that this does not mean a joined issue or a single trial. The proceedings in Judge Dunne's court today were purely perfunctory, but the usual curious crowd gathered to watch the proceedings.

DOUBLE MURDER-SUICIDE NEAR WEST SAN LEANDRO

Japanese Kills Fellow Countryman and Wife. Subsequently Commits Suicide.

A double murder and suicide occurred yesterday morning between the hours of three and four o'clock, on the ranch of Tony Costa, near West San Leandro, a Japanese killing a fellow-countryman and his wife, and then ending his own life.

It is thought that the murderer was infatuated with the woman whose life he took, but the exact cause of the tragedy is not known.

The deputy coroner at San Leandro has taken charge of the remains of the three Japanese, but their names have not been ascertained.

The Japanese and his wife were employed by Costa and they lived on the ranch with their young child. Another Japanese, who was in the habit of visiting them, was the man who murdered them in cold blood yesterday morning.

The murderer used a shotgun in killing the husband of the woman he loved, the shot entering the body over the heart. A bullet from a revolver, which lodged in back of the ear of the woman, ended her life and another pistol bullet under his chin killed the murderer.

Costa states that the murdered couple had been in his employ for several months. The murderer entered his victims' house and killed them without quarter.

An inquest will be held at the branch morgue at San Leandro.

GRANT SCHOOL IS CLOSED BY ORDER HEALTH BOARD

Twenty-Five Per Cent of the Scholars Are Infected With Diphtheria, Say the Physicians.

Upon the completion last night of their examination of swabs taken from the throats of eight hundred children in the Grant School, five physicians recommended to the Board of Health that the school be closed for the remainder of the term, as it was found that about twenty-five per cent of the scholars are infected with diphtheria.

The Grant School was therefore ordered closed and it will remain closed until the commencement of the new school term next year. The parents of those children who were found to be infected have bee notified of their children's condition, and have been asked to guard against a spread of the contagion. Everything will be done by the health authorities to wipe out the disease from the infected district, which is situated in the vicinity of the Grant school.

Considerable complaint was made to the Board of Health about the amount of diphtheria in the Grant school district and the taking of the swabs was the result.

FREED AND REARRESTED

A. L. Hadsell Must Answer to Passing Fraudulent Check.

Upon the motion of his attorney, A. L. Hadsell, the young man who was accused of passing a fraudulent check on the M. J. Keller Company more than a year ago, was discharged this morning by Police Judge Samuels. Hadsell is wanted in Los Angeles on a similar charge, however, and he was ordered taken into custody again by Judge Samuels.

Hadsell was in the employ of the Sunset Telephone and Telegraph Company and it was alleged that he took a fraudulent pay check of his employers and passed it on the M. J. Keller Company. A felony charge was placed against him and his preliminary examination was held. His attorney made a motion for dismissal on the grounds that the evidence was lacking, and Judge Samuels ruled in favor of it.

METCALF WILL NOT COMPLY

Says President Has All the Decuments and He Cannot Give Them to the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Secretary Metcalf of the Department of Commerce and Labor will not report to the Senate the result of his investigation of the Japanese controversy at San Francisco as requested by a resolution introduced by Senator Flint. That resolution called upon him for all letters, telegrams and reports filed with his department, in connection with his investigation of the attendance of Japanese at public schools in San Francisco. He was directed to send the information, if not incompatible with the public interest.

In reply, Secretary Metcalf says that his investigation was made under the authority and as the representative of the President, and not in his capacity as Secretary of Commerce and Labor. He said that the report submitted by him, together with official letters, telegrams and other documents were in the hands of the President, and no longer in the custody or control of the Deaprtment of Commerce and Labor. He had no power to comply with the resolution, he said, or to determine whether the information desired would be incompatible with the public interest, but he told the Senate that he had forwarded a copy of the resolution to the President for him to take such action as he thought fit.

THIRD ANNUAL ACCOUNT FILED BY TRUSTEE

The third annual account of trustee and petition for settlement of the estate of John J. Valentine was filed this morning. The petition of the Union Trust Company of San Francisco shows the total receipts to be $10,223.92, total disbursements $8,114.07, leaving a balance on hand of $2,114.85. The petition will be heard Friday, December 21.

GRILLED UP IN MID-AIR

Lineman Is Toasted in Sight of His Companions, but Escapes by a Miracle.

Robert Adair, while at the top of a tall pole, testing the high-voltage wires, received a shock that was enough to kill any ordinary man, but his system withstood the powerful amount of electricity, and the only injuries sustained were burns about the hands and body, which are not at all serious.

He was at the top of the pole at Fortieth street and Piedmont avenue, when his fellow workmen noticed that he was in distress and came to his assistance. His body had swayed over the wires, which caused the body burns.

After having his wounds dressed at the Receiving hospital he proceeded to his home.

IS ARRAIGNED AS FUGITIVE

Knute Stangland of Chicago Will Have a Hearing on Wednesday.

Knute Stangland appeared in Department One of the police court this morning to be arraigned on the new charge of being a fugitive from justice, which was placed against him Saturday by Captain of Police Petersen, after he had been given his release by Police Judge Samuels, owing to a faulty complaint.

Stangland was arraigned and his preliminary hearing was set for next Wednesday morning. Attorney Richardson, in behalf of Stangland, stated that his client would have to be tried within six days, according to the law relative to fugitives from justice.

The Chicago police, who asked for the arrest of Stangland, now have an officer on the way here to take the prisoner back to Illinois.

MESSENGER BOYS ROBBED HIM OF WATCH

According to the report of Ed Sherberg of 875 Washington street, two messenger boys in this city have turned thugs. Sherberg alleges that at an early hour this morning he met two messenger boys at Ninth street and Broadway. He had been with them but a short time, when he claims he was struck down and robbed of his gold watch. Sherberg was later arrested on a charge of drunkenness and the police take but little stock in his story.

SALOON LICENSE IS FAVORED

In regular meeting this morning the Supervisors favored the granting of a saloon license to Manuel Oliveras at Centerville. The petition was referred to the license committee

CHARGED WITH PETIT LARCENY

Two Men and a Woman Deny that They Robbed Chinese Store.

Charges of petit larceny were sworn to this morning by Lung Sung, the proprietor of the Chinese bazaar at 957 Broadway, against James Bullock, Harry E. Emmons and Miss Mae Daly, whom the Celestial accuses of shoplifting in his store Saturday night.

The two men and the woman were detained at the city prison over yesterday, their names having been placed on the small book. They were booked on the petit larceny charges this morning, however. They will appear tomorrow morning in the police court.

The three accused stoutly maintain their innocence and claim that the alleged theft was committed by a man who entered the store at the same time they did.

BULLOCK'S STATEMENT.

Bullock, who is a cashier in the San Francisco offices of the Santa Fe, bears an excellent reputation, according to the reports received by the detectives yesterday. Bullock makes the following statement of Saturday night's affair:

"We know nothing of the alleged robbery. I have been in the cashier's office of the Santa Fe railroad at Spear and Harrison streets, San Francisco, for the past two months and a half. I have known May Daly only about a week. We crossed the bay together Saturday night and were walking down Broadway when she noticed a display of kimonas in the Chinese store. We went in and were taken to the rear, where one of the clerks brought out a number of kimonas and May Daly tried them on.

"As we entered the store I saw Harry Emmons, with whom I room in San Francisco. He came in and was with us at the time. I did not notice what the trouble was about and did not even see a third man. All I can say is that I am here and that I am innocent. When the clerks barred the door and surrounded us we made no attempt to escape, but submitted quietly to arrest. The silk handkerchiefs they found in Emmons' and my pockets were our own property."

"We never did it, so there!" said Miss Daly when interviewed. "I have been living for the past few weeks at 1646 Buchanan street, San Francisco, but my parents do not live in that city. While I was trying on one of the kimonas I noticed a tall young man with an overcoat come over to where we three were. I saw him start for the door and believe he is the one guilty of the theft. I never saw the man before and would probably not recognize him if I saw him again."

With the exception of avowing his innocence, Emmons would not discuss the case. He asserts that his and his companions' arrest was all a mistake.

VINOL SETTLES

The Cod Liver Oil Question.

No one will dispute the curative and strength creating value of cod liver oil. For centuries it has been recognized as the grandest of all healing and body-building agents for wasted human strength and vitality.

Yet, owing to the heavy, greasy oil which envelops the medicinal elements, and which has no value either as a food or medicine, many patients weakened by disease cannot digest it either in its raw form or an emulsion, and others will not take it on account of its disagreeable odor and taste—consequently its value is lost.

Now, the process discovered by two eminent French chemists—Morgues and Gautier—should interest every person in Oakland, for all of the tonic, body-building and curative elements of cod liver oil are now separated from the greasy, useless oil, and given to the people in delicious Vinol. For this reason it is fast superseding old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions.

As a body-builder and strength-creator for old people, weak women, delicate children, and after sickness and all pulmonary diseases, it is recommended by over 5000 of the leading druggists of the United States as the best.

Your money back if it does not do all we claim. The Owl Drug Co.,

Note—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Oakland, it is now for sale at the leading drug stores in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

POPE REJECTS ALL OFFERS AT THE ELEVENTH HOUR

Parish Priests Must Remain in Their Churches Until Driven Out by Force.

PARIS, Dec. 10.—France last night seemed to face an alarming religious crisis, reports of the Pope's eleventh-hour rejection of the Government's final proffer under which Catholic worship could be continued under the common law, turns out to be only too true, and the deadlock now is apparently complete. According to the holy father's orders, declarations under the law of 1881 are prohibited, but the parish priests must remain in their churches until driven out by violence.

The official confirmation of this report has created a sensation, both in Government and Catholic circles. Cardinal Lecat, Archbishop of Bordeaux, Archbishop Germain and others who already had advised compliance with the law, have hastily instructed the parish priests of their diocese that their former advice is null and void, and today in all the churches of Paris bishops and priests after mass read the letter from Cardinal Richard, Archbishops and priests after mass read the cision of the Holy See to "continue services in the churches, but abstain from any declaration," and Cardinal Richard's own instructions, in view of the order issued by the Prefect of the Seine yesterday, not to permit for the present the employment of ceremonial draperies at marriages or funerals.

The churchwardens, whose legal existence expires next Tuesday, were thanked today from the pulpits of the various churches. Prayers were offered for the protection of God during the coming period of persecution.

The government regards the action of the Pontiff as little less than a summons of the French Catholics to open rebellion, as rendering the situation exceedingly grave and possibly entailing the most deplorable consequences.

Premier Clemenceau and M. Briand, Minister of Public Worship, were in conference all day today. There is no sign of the government faltering, but it is recognized that they may be forced to resort to extreme measures. M. Briand said today that the decision of the Pope was entirely unexpected.

MINISTER'S DECLARATION.

"The encyclical is very grave," said M. Briand. "While condemning the law of 1905, it advises recourse to the common law. Although the refusal to form cultural associations was, in my opinion, an error and to the detriment of the church, it was the church's legal right to refuse. In a spirit of conciliation, out of respect to the conscience of the French Catholics, and in order to do nothing to disturb peace and tranquility, the government thereupon prescribed this means of continuing worship by a simple declaration in accordance with the law of 1881.

"The Pope's brutal order to the clergy to reject this offer practically incites them to violate the laws of the country. He no longer acts as the spiritual head of the church, as the canonical objections agains the law of 1905 cannot be invoked against that of 1881. The Pope now assumes a political leadership, and the vital question is whether the Catholics of France will consent to follow him or not. If they do the government will act with even greater energy because of the tolerance it has manifested heretofore. Every violation of the law will be prosecuted, and, furthermore, special measures, legislative and otherwise, may be taken."

The special measures referred to by M. Briand are those intimated by Premier Clemenceau in the Chamber of Deputies, namely, to strip the clergy of their privileges, compel them to perform military service, and, as a last resort, to treat them as foreign subjects.

TRAIN WRECK; NONE HURT

Accident on Southern Pacific Road Near Reno, Nev., Today.

RENO, Nev., Dec. 10.—One of the baggage cars and a mail car on the eastbound Overland Limited, No. 2, on the Southern Pacific, running east of here, was wrecked this morning at Marcolla, a small station fifty miles east of Reno.

The wreck was caused by an upturned rail. The train was going at the rate of sixty miles an hourr, and so great was the force of the impact that the rail was driven clear through the floor of the mail car. The mail clerks had a narrow escape from death. The cars were thrown over on their sides, and it is regarded as marvelous that the occupants of the two cars escaped alive.

The passengers were badly shaken up, but none was injured, so far as can be learned.

DRIVES WIFE INTO STREET

James Farrell Uses Axe on His Wife and is Put Under Arrest.

BERKELEY, Dec. 10.—Swinging a heavy axe above his head, James Farrell, who lives at Francisco and Curtis streets, in West Berkeley, drove his family from his home out into the storm late last evening. Had it not been for the determination and courage shown by Clarence Farrell, the twenty-year-old son, the wife and children might have been forced to remain overnight in the streets. Securing a baseball bat, Young Farrell is said to have forced his way back into the house to the discomfiture of his drunken father.

Angered at his repulse, Farrell ransacked the house for a revolver which he had laid away some days ago. Though he turned his trunk upside down and pulled out every bureau drawer, and broke the furniture in the process, he was unable to locate the weapon, as his wife herself had already taken possession of it and fled to the police station.

Securing the assistance of the officers, Mrs. Farrell returned to her home, and her husband was booked at the police station on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He is being held at the office of Marshall Vollmer until a warrant can be sworn to and issued by Judge Edgar.

Woman's Watchword Is Modesty.

Whatever threatens woman's delicate sense of modesty, frightens her. For this reason many a woman permits disease of the delicate womanly organs to become aggravated because she cannot bring herself to submit to the ordeal of unpleasant questionings, offensive examinations, and obnoxious local treatments, which most physicians think necessary. Doubtless thousands of the women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter have been led to do so by the escape thus offered from a treatment repugnant to modesty.

Any sick woman may write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., in perfect confidence; all letters of consultation being treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential, and all answers being sent in plain envelopes with no advertising or other printing upon them. Such consultation costs you nothing whether you take treatment from Dr. Pierce or not.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been long hailed as a "God-send to women." It makes weak women strong and sick women well. It enables women suffering from "female weakness," prolapsus uteri, retroversion, anteversion, and other displacements of the organs distinctly feminine, to cure themselves right in the privacy of their homes. Pelvic catarrhal drains, painful or irregular periods, backache, frequent headaches, weak nerves, dragging-down pain or distress in the lower abdominal, or pelvic, region, gnawing sensation in stomach, dizziness, or faint spells, and kindred conditions and symptoms are cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is not a secret or patent medicine, against the use of which most people of intelligence naturally object, but is, in fact, the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and experienced physician in the treatment of woman's peculiar ailments and who is not afraid to publish all its ingredients, as he does, on its bottle-wrapper, attesting the correctness of the same under oath.

"Favorite Prescription" is the one medicine for woman's delicate ailments which contains neither alcohol nor harmful, habit-forming drugs, being a pure glyceric extract of curative principles found in our most valuable native, medicinal roots, as attested by many of the most eminent medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For over-worked, "worn-out," run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this PROVEN REMEDY OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

"The Blood is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgement are effected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It enriches and purifies the blood thereby curing, pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by inclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of UNKNOWN composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

GIRL IS CHOSEN FOR COUNTY CLERK

LASS OF NEW YORK APPOINTED TO SUCCEED FATHER IN OFFICE.

She Is Selected from Among Numerous Applicants for the Position.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—When Augustus Acker, Clerk of the Court of Special Sessions of Richmond Borough, died, a few months ago, there sprang up a horde of applicants eager for appointment to his place.

The clerkship pays $2000 a year. Acker held it for ten years, and it was largely due to the fidelity to duty that his health became impaired.

Nicholas Butler, Democratic leader of Richmond county, had been instrumental in securing the clerkship for Acker. To the fifty or more men who called upon him and urged his influence in securing the appointment, Butler made but one reply:

"The person who gets the place will have to fill it as capably as did Acker. I'll try to pick out such a person."

The office-hunters were shocked when they heard yesterday that the person whom Butler would recommend was Miss Mabel E. Acker, daughter of the late clerk. The recommendation is equivalent to appointment. Miss Acker will be the first woman in the State to be appointed to a court clerkship.

She is twenty-one years old and highly accomplished. Each day she goes to the office where for years her father conducted his real estate, insurance and bonding business in New Brighton and she has displayed rare ability in business transactions.

Miss Acker did not seek the appointment and no one told her that Butler had made up his mind to recommend her. She preferred not to talk about it yesterday except to say that if the appointment really came she did not see how she could refuse it.

"Mabel is not in politics," said her mother. "This is a big surprise to us. I know that if she is appointed she will try to do just as her father did. What do I think of a woman holding political office? Well, all I'll say is I'm glad this office will stay in the family."

WOMAN GRABS A RAT; HOLDS ON TO IT

SHE SWOONS AWAY WHEN HUSBAND SMOTHERS RODENT.

Member of Household Pest Attacks Wife as She and Spouse Sleep.

ALBANY, Dec. 10.—Mrs. Henry N. Dunning, wife of a prominent clergyman of this city, upset popular notions about women and mice the other night by grabbing not a mouse but a big rat, and holding on to it until the rodent was smothered under a pillow.

After that Mrs. Dunning swooned and has been ill ever since.

She was sleeping in bed when she suddenly awoke to find something squirming in her grasp. She aroused her husband, but was so frightened that she could give no coherent explanation of her predicament. He quickly lighted the gas, and Mrs. Dunning saw she was holding tight to a big rat. It was only her husband's admonition not to let go that kept her from fainting. He picked up a pillow and smothered her hand and the rat under it. When he lifted it the rat was dead. Mrs. Dunning then fainted, but was revived by a physician. There was an abrasion on Mrs. Dunning's face, and it is believed that the rat attacked her in her sleep and that she unconsciously raised her hand and grasped it.

And now, in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and all lung diseases." GRANDMA SAYS SMOKING IS GOOD FOR THE WOMEN

Aged Woman Says Tobacco Is Splendid for the General Health and Also the Complexion.

DENVER, Dec. 10.—Whether smoking will become the fashion in Denver society is a quartion that is creating a good deal of discussion on Capitol Hill. Since England has deemed it necessary to add a lady's smoker to the regulation train, magazines all over the world have described the jaunty English woman in her new aspect and have given such a charm to her beautifully jeweled cigarette cases that American women are envious to take up the fad.

"All old ladies and young girls smoked in my day," said Mrs. Martin Conway, a popular grandmother, who lives at 1438 Franklin and who is much interested in the topic of woman's smoking. "I can't remember anyone who didn't smoke then.

"Smoking is splendid for the health and the complexion. No one ever had any liver or stomach trouble in those days. I think it is the reason ladies lived to such good old age then. Indigestion! We never heard of it!

"The women always carried a bag attached to their belts in which they kept their pipes and home grown tobacco. Nearly everyone lived on a farm and tobacco was raised just like corn; it grew four to five feet high and had great long leaves, also huge green silk worms. Every morning we went out, picked off the worms and killed them.

"In autumn, the whole tobacco plant was pulled up and strung out on long poles to dry. Twice a week we went out with sugar water and sprinkled the stalks. Before they were quite dry, we stripped off the leaves, lay them in layers on a long bench and twisted them. Some who were fond of daintiness pressed them and put them in boxes with a lid to keep them dry.

"I can remember so well the big fireplace with one of my aunts on one side and one on the other; the house cat in the center. I was just six years old. My aunts would give me their pipes to fill and light for them. I was too young to smoke myself, as a girl was supposed to be at least 18 or 20 before she was eligible for the pipe. In fact, a girl was a little girl until she reached that age. How different now!

"'Well,' my aunts would say, 'You'll be smoking before you know it.' And I would answer, 'Auntie, let me!' and one of them would say, 'Well, it won't hurt you; it's good for you!' But when I grew to be a young lady the fad had passed so I never had a pipe in my mouth.

"And the smoking parties my aunts would go to! Quilting parties where all the neighbors would come in to help! Everybody smoked and told stories! Then the apple parings, when everybody helped everybody to pare their apples for drying! Pipes and stories again.

"The longest pipes were smoked when the parents went to town. We lived in Scarlet county, later in Fulton county, Illinois, and our farms were 100 miles from a grocery store. In those days we had to take our corn and wheat in to be ground. Fifteen or twenty neighbors would get together and go in a bunch. Sure as fate, storms would arise and the creeks would swell up so terribly that all could not get back. Sometimes they would be absent six or eight weeks at a time, waiting for the waters to subside.

"The ones who stayed at home would get out of food and we would have to crush the wheat at home to make bread. Just think of it! No one can realize the labor of the undertaking! We had big stone jars and big stone crushers that we worked with our hands. I have had to do it many a time. When our parents came back, we thought we were very well off with the molasses, coffee, salt, sugar and flour that they brought with them. We never had any fancy dishes in those days. Of course we raised chickens on the farm so that we had eggs and fowl to eat; also cows which gave us plenty of milk and we made butter.

"We had no clothes lines, but used grapevines to hang our wash on. By the way, we had no cooking stoves or wash tubs, so would go down to the 'branch'—that was a shallow part of the river—put our big iron kettles, which had three legs, on a rock and built a fire underneath. Then we washed all day long; we took our dinners with us; really it was a regular jolification day.

"We girls were saving in those days. When we went to church or Sunday school we would go barefoot until we drew near the building, then would sit down and put on our shoes and stockings, which we had been carrying in our hands to save wearing them out needlessly. We never paid more than 75 cents or $1 for a pair of shoes, and they lasted a long time. In summer we fixed them up with grease and then we thought we looked mighty nice.

"Ah! but when a girl was married! Then she primped! All brides wore beautiful white caps with dainty pink or blue bows on them. And smoke.

GIRL THRASHES BIG DIAMOND THIEF

ATHLETIC MRS. GENDEN AFTER A FOUR YEAR HUNT LANDS ROBBER OF FATHER.

Woman Beats Her Prisoner Aout the Faace as She Marches Him to Jail.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10—After making a zigzag search in dozens of cities for the men who four years ago robbed her father of diamonds worth $600, Mrs. Annie Genden, a pretty woman, of No. 323 East Eighth street, caught and thrashed a broad-shouldered young man whom she charged with being the thief. The prisoner, who said he was Harry Platt, twenty-six years old, looked big as a mountain beside the fair complainant in Essex Market Court. He was held in $2000 bail for further examination.

"It was a long chase," remarked a spectator.

"Yes, indeed; four years of the hardest kind of athletic training fitted me to catch my man," answered Mrs. Genden, smiling.

Mrs. Genden was walking along Grand street, when she saw Platt strolling along with a young girl, arm in arm. She approached Platt, and, placing her two arms around his neck, said:

"Now I have you and I'll hold on to you. You are the man who robbed my father, and if you try to get away I'll slap you. Now just try to get away, if you dare."

The young woman who accompanied Platt fled. While a large crowd was looking on, Mrs. Genden pounded Platt with her right fist a dozen times. Then two plain clothes men arrested Platt. The prisoner tried to escape, but Mrs. Genden passed him a left uppercut to the chin which curled him up like a cruller. As he was led to the Eldridge street station she struck him in the face a few times.

"I am sure I have the right man," Mrs. Genden told Magistrate Stinert. "It was he who robbed my father of $600 worth of diamonds on the street four years ago. I saw the robbery and chased him for several blocks, but was so fat at the time that I fell every few seconds. I made up my mind to get this man no matter how long it would take. I often used to cry in the evenings when I thought of how this man Platt robbed my father.

"I determined to go into training, so that if I saw Platt again I could catch and hold him. I have been at it for four years. I have used dumbbells every day, rowed and exercised in other ways. It didn't take long before I could chase my friends for a dozen blocks without getting winded.

"A few weeks ago I felt as though I could thrash my father's thief if he came along. When I saw him on Grand street I grabbed him, and after battering him up a little turned him over to the police."

SHE KNITS FOR 275 RELATIVES

Woman 90 Years Old Hopes to Finish Stockings by Chrisitmas.

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Dec. 10.—Knitting busily in the apparently hopeless task of supplying 275 descendants with stockings for Christmas, Mrs. Jacob Dearinger, of Christian county, has little time for idleness. Smoking incessantly, her pipe being a great solace in her old age, she is busy from morning until night with her needles, and is expert in her knitting. She has just celebrated her ninetieth birthday, having been born in Jessamine county, Ky., in 1816.

Her maiden name was Elizabeth Padgett. She married Jacob Dearinger September 1, 1836, and to them were born sixteen children. The fifth generation comprises eleven children, bringing the grand total of descendants of the old lady up to 275, more, it is believed, than any other resident of the United States.

It was just the thing to do. It was part of the honeymoon. The bride and groom spent their evenings by the fireside in winter or under the moon in summer, always keeping company with a pipe. Yes, yes, I am very much interested to see if Denver women will smoke. I am sure they would be much healthier if they did."

MRS. NELLIE MUNSON, of New York, who was chloroformed and bound to a bed by an intruder who robbed her apartment. Below is a photo of Mrs. Morris Goldburg, who heard Mrs. Munson's cries for help and who went to the drugged woman's rescue, dropping four aces in a poker hand to give aid.

THE ENGINES

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

When we read in song, or story, of the heroes crowned with glory,
Who have fought in famous battles of the past,
We are prone to sit down sighing, for the heroism dying
From the world of men with whom our lot is cast.

And we sorrow for our Nation, cursed with soft degeneration
As it follows down the path the Romans trod.
When no mighty purpose thrills it, when but lust for riches fills it,
It has lost the great creative spark of God.

'Twas but yesterday one doubted men had courage still, and flouted
At unselfishness, "that vague, unmeaning word;"
Then there came a sound like thunder, and the doubter saw his blunder:
'Twas the passing of the Engines that we heard!

For they broke upon our quiet with a mad and reckless riot,
And they shattered all the silence into sound.
How the Engines hissed and spattered, how the flying horses clattered,
As their iron hoofs sped by us with a bound!

And the men with knightly bearing, on the smoke and battle faring,
Seemed like heroes of an age of war and strife.
For they boldly courted danger, aiding foe, and friend, and stranger,
With the courage that outweighs the love of life.

Facing flame and falling ember, not a man paused to remember
Home, and wife, and little children, left behind.
Rushing in through smoke and cinder, not one selfish fear could hinder,
Or drive duty from the throne room of his mind.

There was someone calling; and though mighty beams were falling
And the smoke was like a raging devil's breath,
Still, without one moment's waiting, or a second's hesitating,
On they leaped, and wrenched a human life from death!

"Nay, true courage has not vanished, nor has Time all heroes banished," Spake the doubter, with concession at the last,
"In this daily scene of Duty lies unselfishness and beauty."
And he stood with head uncovered as they passed.

HE OBJECTS TO COLOGNE

Preacher Advices Negroes to Use More Soap and Water.

TEXARKANA, Ark., Dec. 10.—Rev. E. M. Griggs, D. D., of Palestine, Tex., in addressing the negro Baptist State convention said: "The negroes must use more soap and water and less cheap cologne and powder. There is a powerful uplifting in soap and water. The negro has it in his power to become something in this country, and if he fails will have only himself to blame."

HOW TO CHOOSE GOOD POULTRY

Age of Bird is Most Important Part—To Select Ducks and Geese Examine Feet.

In choosing poultry the age of the bird is the most important point for consideration. When selecting a turkey remember that a young bird has smooth, shiny black legs, whereas those of an old one are rough and reddish. If the bird is freshly killed the eyes are full and bright and the feet moist.

The combs and legs are smooth in a young fowl, but rough in an old one.

When choosing geese see that the bills and feet are yellow and have few hairs on them. Old birds have a decided red tinge on both. The feet should be pliable when freshly killed, but become dry and stiff if they have been killed some time. Geese are called green until they are two or three months old.

Ducks are chosen by their feet, which should be supple. Wild ducks have reddish feet, while those of the tame duck are yellow. A fresh duck should have a plump hard breast.

Pigeons should always be eaten while they are fresh; when they look flabby and discolored about the under part they have been kept too long.

TOOK SENTENCE TO SAVE HER DAUGHTER

INNOCENT WOMAN SERVED 19 YEARS FOR CHILD MURDER

Negro Mother Now 72 Years Old Is Cared for by Her White Neighbors.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 10.—That the spirit of self-sacrifice has not entirely disappeared is evidenced in the story of a poor old negro woman, Louisa Stewart, just pardoned by the Governor. For nineteen years she has served on a life sentence for a crime she did not commit, but to which she pleaded guilty to save her young daughter.

The daughter killed her own child, and the mother, to save her, confessed to the crime, though it now develops that she had no part in it. She is seventy-two years old and is being tenderly cared for by white people who have known her since slavery days in Hale county. The incident created much sympathy for the old woman in the Governor's office.

CUSTOM BEGAN IN OLD SPAIN

Unique Story Tells of the Origin of Wearing Orange Blossoms at Weddings.

The orange blossom is so typical of weddings that few ever stop to wonder why it has attained its position as the bridal flower.

The custom of wearing orange blossom on the wedding-day originated in Spain. The story goes that an African potentate once gave a Spanish king a magnificent orange-tree, whose fragrant blossoms were the admiration of all who were permitted to see them. In vain many people begged for a sprig of the lovely plant, and most persistent of all was a foreign ambassador, who wished to send a cutting to his own country.

It so happened that the head gardener, who had charge of the orange tree, possessed a charming daughter, who was courted by a young artisan. The girl, however, lacked a dowry, so there seemed no prospect of their marriage taking place. One day her father accidently broke off a spray of orange blossom from the precious tree, and gave it to his daughter, who placed the creamy flowers in her hair, where they attracted the attention of the ambassador. He promised to give the young girl a sum sufficient for her dowry if she would give him the spray, and, needless to add, she willingly did so. She was soon afterward married, and in remembrance of the luck brought by the orange blossom she secretly broke off another piece, which she wore on her wedding day, an example followed by brides of our own and most foreign countries.

The President and the Storers.

In the Storer matter the President is paying the penalty of mixing social and domestic concerns with affairs of state. Mrs. Storer, wife of the former Ambasador to Austria-Hungary, is an aunt of the President's son-in-law, and was an old friend of the President, who was in the habit of addressing her in terms of affectionate familiarity. He found Mrs. Storer a woman of unusual intelligence, exceedingly well-informed in regard to political and diplomatic matters; therefore, he discussed such matters with her with frank freedom, trusting to her discretion to distinguish between the private opinions and personal wishes of Theodore Roosevelt and the official acts and utterances of the President of the United States. Her failure to do so is apparently the cause of the whole trouble.

The President's confidence was misplaced because Mrs. Storer lacked discretion and discrimination. She construed the President's confidences as a commission for her to execute, not realizing that the President might in private intimacy say he wished such and such things would take place, yet as President of the United States could do nothing toward having them come about. She intrigued in the name of the President with such boldness that Cardinal del Val, the Papal Secretary of State, was compelled to rebuke her and to direct the attention of the State Department to her actions.

It is conceivable that the President told Mrs. Storer that he wished the Pope would elevate Archbishop Ireland to the college of cardinals—there was no harm in his doing so—and he probably confided to her his reasons for desiring the promotion of the St. Paul prelate. It was not from a wish to meddle in the affairs of the Catholic church or merely to show a personal preference for a friend that he hoped the Pope would confer the red hat on Archbishop Ireland, but from a belief that certain domestic problems of a harassing nature would be more amicably and speedily adjusted. The expression of his wishes in this direction was far from a direction to Mrs. Storer and her husband to begin pulling wires at the Vatican, much less writing to the Papal Secretary of State that the President wished the Pope would make Archbishop Ireland a cardinal.

The pith of Mrs. Storer's indiscretion was that it represented the President as officially trying to accomplish what he desired individually but could not with propriety endeavor to bring about in his official capacity. Hence Ambassador Storer and his wife placed the President in a false position and created a diplomatic scandal. The story was the gossip of every embassy in Europe, hence the usefulness of Hon. Bellamy Storer as a diplomat was utterly destroyed. The President could retain him at his post no longer without giving public sanction to the interference in Vatican politics and the foolish intrigues of Mrs. Storer. The close intimacy formerly existing accounts for the sharp personal reproof administered to Mrs Storer, which was evidently to show her how unwarranted and compromising her acts had been. The dismissal of Storer was a matter of course. In diplomacy a blunder is worse than a crime; and Mr. Storer is giving further evidence of his unfitness to hold his post by making public statement disclosing his inability to grasp the essential points of the case.

Yesterday THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE contained 4760 inches of advertising, filling 150 solid columns. Only one newspaper printed in San Francisco equaled this volume of advertising

The absurdity of some of the fine distinctions drawn by the California courts is illustrated by the announcement that the San Francisco Police Commissioners have no power to suspend Chief Dinan although he is their appointee and removable at their pleasure. It appears that the courts sometime ago held that the power to elect and summarily remove does not include an implied authority to suspend. Such a ruling defies common sense, but since the courts say that is the law it must be accepted as such. The charter of San Francisco expressly states that the Police Commissioners have the power to elect and remove chiefs of police at their discretion, but it does not say in so many words that they may suspend a chief of police temporarily. This is equivalent to declaring that a permission to go a mile on a certain road is not a permit to go a hundred yards along the same highway—that is, the whole distance must be traveled or not an inch.

We Have No Business in Africa.

The class of mischievous persons who deem it the duty of the United States to regulate affairs all over the world are now trying to get our government to intervene in the affairs of the so-called Congo Free State, which is an appanage of Belgium. It is alleged that all sorts of hideous atrocities are being perpetrated there by authority of the Belgian King, and that it is our duty to step in and put a stop to the barbarities. It is not our business at all. We have no more right to interfere in the Congo Free State than we have to interfere in Russia or Spain or Germany or China. We have as much right to tell the Czar he must cease persecuting the Jews, Poles and Finns as we have to tell King Leopold that he must cease torturing and plundering his African subjects. It may be true, as is alleged, that the Belgian monarch maintains a lobby in Washington to avert interference on the part of our government, but if such be the fact it does not justify this nation in poking its nose into the affairs of other nations and attempting to right every wrong complained of in foreign countries. The Congo Free State was established under Belgian suzerainty with the consent of the European powers, all of whom are guilty of cruelty, spoliation and oppression in Africa. Every European nation save Russia and Austria has made conquest of parts of Africa, enslaving the inhabitants and treating them as inferior beings without natural rights. If we intervene to stay the hand of Leopold, we are in duty bound to serve notice on Emperor William that the barbarities in German East Africa must cease. We can bully Belgium with safety because she is a weak power with no navy to speak of, but in a matter of principle we should not coerce the weak and leave the strong to pursue their wicked courses without rebuke. Besides, we have a little affair of our own in the Philippines that admonishes us not to be too ready to go into the knight-errant business to right wrong in every part of the globe.

BOY MESSENGERS.

Paris, it is stated, is to have its boy messengers. A Societe des Petits Messagers is in process of formation. It is rumored that, with a poetic fancy characteristic of our neighbors, a number of the lads will be clothed as cupid, and employed solely for the conveyance of love letters.—Punch.

The European Military Experts.

We have no idea that war is likely to result between the United States and Japan because of the establishment of separate schools for Japanese children in San Francisco, hence regard the talk of the so-called military experts in Paris, comparing the military strength of the two countries to our disadvantage, as idle and mischievous. However, the announcement that "European military experts have not a high opinion of American military capabilities" is not disquieting. When the Spanish war broke out the same European experts prophesied that the United States would get severely handled. They derided our navy and sneered at our army. The events of the war are history. England's experience in the Transvaal shattered a tradition that had impressed Europe for a century. Russia's showing in the Manchurian war showed the European military experts again to be in error. We do not desire to go to war with anybody and only desire to remain on terms of peace and amity with Japan, but if we have to fight—why, we will take care of ourselves without paying any heed to what the European military experts say. We will ask neither their aid nor their sympathy, for neither has ever benefited anybody in a war. Moreover, Europe would like to see Japan and the United States come to blows. Their wish is not likely to be granted, however, for we have faith in the wisdom of the statesmen who control the destinies of the Nipponese empire.

SAN FRANCISCO A SECOND PORT ARTHUR.

MR. EDITOR: One would think that ordinary common sense would dictate to the people of San Francisco the policy of keeping a civil tongue in their heads while the present exceedingly serious situation with respect to Japan continues. There are too many unconsidered and inflammatory utterances—too many reflections on the shortcomings of the Japanese—too much pompous and aggravating language concerning our supposed ability to lick all creation. Nothing of this sort is consistent with the actual situation. San Francisco is in a frightfully exposed situation in case of war. Should the Japanese strike it is San Francisco that would feel the weight of the blow. Her commerce, which is the main dependence of the city, would be swept off the seas. Not a ship could safely make the voyage either to China, to Manila, or to Alaska, and it is more than likely that the coast-wise trade would be much interfered with if not destroyed. It requires no foresight to discern that the Philippines would be immediately lost, for Oyama with his million of trained and tried veterans could not be withstood for one day. Our few thousand soldiers and the few hundred constabulary in the islands could interpose no effective resistance to the levies that Japan has probably even now designated for the work of conquering and annexing these troublesome isles; and what could prevent them, except distance, from descending upon the Hawaiian Islands and annexing them, too? We talk about our army and navy in terms of respect, as well we may; but you cannot expect sixty thousand men to withstand the innumerable legions of Nippon, nor can you name the ships that are able to meet Togo and his fleet. We have neither soldiers, sailors, officers nor ships to enable us to enter upon a contest with so prompt, resolute and tireless a foe. Our isolation, at the opposite side of the Pacific, would not save us, for they who, without accident, landed the forces of Kuroki in Korea, and of Oku in Manchuria, would know how to reach and invest a weak town, whose chief defenders would be its own citizens. Doubtless the fortifications about the Golden Gate would keep the foe out; but what is to prevent their landing further south and marching upon the city as Nogi marched upon and invested Port Arthur? Togo never entered that harbor, but he blockaded it, and held the Russian fleet at bay until the work on land was finished. Mouthy orators may prate about the invincibility of American arms, the depths of Uncle Sam's pocketbook, and whatever else they please; but moderation in language is more than ever to be counseled. The Japanese do not forget.

I have been amused, but still more shocked, to read the expressions attributed to our public men, who of all others should be prudent at this juncture. Representative Kahn claims to "stand pat;" Representative Mudd (of Mississippi, the Lord be thanked) would "yank" the Japanese out of the public schools, just to show them that we can. I fancy that these heroes would be in the rearmost ranks in case of war. Doubtless Mr. Mudd's exploits in yanking people about are confined to the negroes of his own state, and I think if he undertook to yank a real live Jap, he would shortly look his own name to the letter. What we ourselves, Californians, who would have to bear the brunt of the war if one came, would look like at its end, I leave for people's imagination. By all means, for the sake of humanity, if not for our material interests, let us frown down these incendiary, these foolish utterances, and work for peace, which in this case is working for justice. Let us have no more outbreaks of cant, and by all means no more expressions of race hatred, which are sure to react upon us. The Japanese have abundantly disproved all allegations as to their inferiority, and that should end it. Let them go to school if they demand it, for people who go there will at least keep out of mischief. As for our cheap politicians, who for the sake of votes would embroil the country in war, let us remember them until next election day and then act. Faithfully yours,

S. W. MacLEOD.

BLOOD POISON

CURE YOURSELF AT HOME

Most persons who are afflicted with Contagious Blood Poison hesitate to go to a physician for several reasons. In the first place the expense is heavy, and they know that the inevitable treatment will be mercury and potash, strong minerals that act with disastrous effects on the delicate parts of the system, and which do not, after all, really cure the disease. What they want is a safe, reliable treatment that can be taken at home and a perfect cure made of this loathsome disorder without unnecessary exposure or expense. Such a remedy is S. S. S.—it is the only medicine that goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and drives out the last trace of the poison so that there are never any signs of its return. It does not contain a particle of mineral in any form, and after removing the disease from the circulation builds up every part of the system by its fine vegetable tonic properties.

S.S.S.

PURELY VEGETABLE

S. S. S. attacks the trouble at its head and not only permanently cures the disease for the one afflicted, but so purifies the blood that future offspring is insured against infection. S. S. S. may be taken in the privacy of your home and a perfect cure made of this hateful and loathsome trouble. For the assistance of those who are curing themselves with S. S. S. we have prepared a special book on Contagious Blood Poison which contains instructions of great value to all blood poison sufferers. We will be glad to send a copy of this book free, and if additional instructions or advice is wanted, our physicians will furnish it without charge.

Strength Comes

Not From What You Eat, But From What You Digest.

Most people eat most foods without discrimination—it matters little what! Few stop to think what that food does for them This is the first turn on the road to dyspepsia Reckless disregard of the proper choice of foods rapid eating and improper mastication are the unquestioned causes of all stomach disorders from the slight ache to the malignant cancer

There is nothing more revolting than a dyspeptic stomach—a very vat for putrefaction sending forth its poison throughout the entire system, depressing the brain befouling the breath souring the taste deadening the muscles incapacitating the liver and kidneys for their work debilitating the heart choking the lungs and clogging the bowels

All of those disagreeable and dangerous conditions are due to the improper digestion of food and the consequent assimilation of poison What else can be expected? If the food lies in the stomach, if the system is constipated fermentation is the natural outcome It shows itself in sour watery risings belchings heartburn and painful breathing

There is only one way to relieve this condition If the stomach refuses to digest your food put something into it that will Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are nothing but digestives They are not a medicine They work when the stomach will not

Each tablet contains enough pepsin diastase golden seal and other digestive elements to reduce 3000 grains of ordinary food to the proper consistency for assimilation into the blood

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are absolutely pure There is nothing harmful in them as shown in their indorsement by 40 000 physicians in the United States and Canada.

Ask your family physician his opinion of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and if he is honest toward you he will state positively that they will cure your stomach trouble whatever it may be, unless you have waited too long and have allowed your disorder to develop into cancer

Act today and begin to end your suffering A free trial package will be sent to your address upon request The 50 cent size packages are for sale at your druggists F A Stuart Co, 87 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

OAKLAND WILL DO LIKEWISE

Asiatic Pupils Will Not Be Permitted to Intermingle with American Pupils.

The Oakland Board of Education is not only watching the Japanese situation carefully, but has already considered the proposition of setting apart a building for Mongolians The Harrison-street school, which is in a peculiarly favorable situation for such a purpose, is under consideration for the use of the Orientals and the plan may take definite shape at the next meeting

There are a few Japanese students scattered about the city, in the different schools but in the main, they and the Chinese, are kept in separate classes although in the same buildings as white students

The request of the Progress Club, through its recent resolution that the board take steps to segregate the races, has already been under consideration, as well as the other features of the racial educational question

While it has not been publicly discussed the board is practically unanimous in the opinion that adults should not be permitted to study with children, and that the physical feature of the situation, the possibility of contraction of trachoma as a result of the mingling of the Japanese with others, should be carefully guarded against

Superintendent McClymonds said We have separate rooms for the Japanese and Chinese children now, although we have no building set apart for them There is no trachoma in our schools as yet as far as I know but if we found a case we should at once eject the person afflicted Certainly no adults should be permitted in the same rooms with small children In fact such is not the prevailing case here There may be a few such in the higher grammar grades and in the high school but not in the lower grades I think I believe however that we should not meddle with this affair until the Government has finished its investigation"

Director F C Clift says "No adult Jap white person or Chinese or any one else should be seated in the same room with small children Little Japs or Chinese may be permitted to do so I think without harm We have organized a Chinese and Japanese school, at Fortieth anad Market streets for the benefit of the detention camp there, and there are thirty or forty pupils who are taking advantage of it We have a special teacher, Miss Fay Snow, who conducts the school as an ungraded country institution

When the Fred M Campbell school is completed we have thought of removing the white children from the Harrison-street school and using that building for Japanese Chinese and Coreans Still I don't think we should make the little fellows from distant portions of the city attend there, as it would be too far to walk'

F M Hathaway said We have certain rooms set apart for the Chinese and Japanese now If there are only two or three such pupils in a school I think it all right to let them stay there but if there are many they should be placed by themselves I believe that both the Japanese and Americans have been making a good deal of teapot-tempest affair out of this whole proposition Certainly no nationality could take exception to being given rooms or buildings by itself as long as it was given equal education facilities with the others as is done in San Francisco The Chinese we have here do better by themselves and you hear no kick from them If we had many Japanese we would do the same with them as we have with the Chinese I do not believe of course that adults should be allowed to mix with children at school

C H Redington said There are not enough Japs here to warrant the setting aside of a separate building for them Where there are only one or two it doesn e matter if they are permitted in the same schools with the white children I don t believe there are more than a dazen Japanese students in all of Oakland No person should be permitted to study with small children after he is 21 years old I believe there are not many Japs arriving here now but we should guard against trachoma among those who do come

C L Ingler said We have thought that Oriental pupils should be taught by themselves and therefore we have figured on using the Harrison street school, which is in the heart of the Chinese district for that purpose The question of adults in schools is an innovation to us If it were not for the cost it would be all right to permit adults to attend, though of course not with the primary pupils The matter of trachoma is one that should be looked after by the Board of Health I have not given the subject much thought but of course I am in favor of any restrictive measures made necessary by any emergency that might arise

Dr W J Wilcox said I hardly know what to do, as I haven t talked with the other members of the board Japanese children are all right but Japanese men associating with little children is all wrong These adults do not pay for the privilege of attending school here I believe although I think the law provides that they should I guess the law about adults paying to attend school has been overlooked I haven t seen any trachoma here but I have heard of one case If such a question should need attending to I should expect the Board of Health to help us out in the matter'

Some Crank

recently posted on top of a letter box a ten-pound chunk of ice neatly wrapped in heavy brown paper, and addressed to President Roosevelt It bore eight 1c stamps amply sufficient to carry the packet after the ice had melted The President is certainly a warm number, but his zeal is tempered as a rule with such pleasing discretion that I cannot see the point of handing him ice tickets as a Chicago lady passed out to the suitor for her hand One thing I know the ices you get at Lehnhardt's hold their shape long enough to reach their interior objective points No one objects to trying them either

Quaker Club House Sausage

Have got to be the talk of the town, and why? Because they justly deserve the praise that is given them. Have you any idea of the amount of care that is being taken to give you the best sausage ever sold to the Oakland public First the meat is selected, we use nothing but grain-fed hogs Second, we use just so much fat and just so much lean, always uniform Third, the seasoning is weighed to the ounce. There is no guesswork about the manufacture of Quaker Club House Sausage Fourth, we employ the best sausage-makers money can procure The greatest care is taken in the chopping and mixing, and, last but not least, they are made in a well-ventilated, sunlit room that is always exposed to your view. We want you to come and see them made Remember, we have exclusive right to manufacture J. Frank Stradling's Famous Quaker Club House Sausage The kind that was served at the best hotels, clubs and cafes in San Francisco before the fire. The kind that has got Oakland to talking now.

"PROUD AND GLAD"

Because Mother Looked So Well After Quitting Coffee

An Ohio woman was almost distracted with coffee dyspepsia and heart trouble

Like thousands of others the drug in coffee—caffeine—was slowly but steadily undermining her nervous system and interfering with natural digestion of food

"For 30 years" she writes I have used coffee Have always been sickly—had heart trouble and dyspepsia with ulcers in stomach and mouth so bad sometimes I was almost distracted and could hardly eat a thing for a week

"I could not sleep for nervousness and when I would lie down at night I'd belch up coffee and my heart would trouble me At last when I would want to drink coffee it would gag me It was like poison to me I was thin—only weighed 125 lbs when I quit coffee and began to use Postum

"From the first day that belching and burning in my stomach stopped The Postum went down so easy and pleasant I could sleep as soundly as anyone and after the first month whenever I met any friends they would ask me what was making me so fleshy and look so well

"Sometimes, before I could answer quick enough one of the children or my husband would say, Why that is what Postum is doing for her—they were all so proud and glad

"When I recommend it to anyone I always tell them to follow directions in making Postum as it is not good to taste if weak but fine when it is boiled long enough to get the flavor and rich brown color Name given by Postum Co, Battle Creek, Mich Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. BOOKS AND MAGAZINES REVIEWED FOR READERS

Some of the Latest Publications Discussed for "The Tribune" by Adelaide Sell Baker.

By ADELAIDE SELL BAKER.

"THE CALL OF THE BLOOD."

A remarkable book was Robert Hichen's "The Garden of Allah," and remarkable also is the author's latest work, "The Call of the Blood," which, like the former novel, is a story of the South—of Sicily and Africa—riotous, tropical, glowing, picturesque lands, the countries whose charms stir the blood, and whose call to the primal forces tests the power of the bonds of centuries of civilization.

The theme of the novel is the old one of heredity, and the principal character, to whom comes "the call of the blood," is somewhat reminiscent of George Eliot's Tito Melema, the joyous, the beautiful, and the irresponsible.

This individual, Maurice Delarey, practically English, and but ordinary mentally, possesses charm and remarkable beauty—beauty not only of feature, but of extraordinary, radiant, careless expression, southern in its character—the inheritance of a Sicilian grandmother.

Surrounded by conventionality and dispassionate natures, Delarey has not yet heard "the call" and marries, not incited by love, but through intense admiration of her intellect, a homely but charming English woman, years older than himself.

This woman, noble and unselfish, against the advice of her wise and pessimistic friend, the novelist, takes her young husband to Sicily to rejoice with him in its color and beauty.

This is Hermione's mistake. The new environment brings out in him all the fickleness and passion which lay dormant in England—the fire of the southern grandmother. The woman has taken him to Sicily expecting him to love it as she loves it; instead, she finds that he is of Sicily, while she is merely the visitor. When Delarey first sees the tarantella, it seems as if he sees something he has but forgotten, some nerve in his body responds to the tune of the flute, he feels "the call of the blood," and responds to the joy of the music, dancing the tarantella "almost as if he had danced it all his life, with a natural grace, a frolicsome abandon that no pure-blooded Englishman could ever achieve, danced it as perhaps once the Sicilian grandmother had danced it under the shadow of Aetna."

This force of heredity leads him on and on to the inevitable disaster.

Certainly unusual in its easy style, emotional quality, unconventionality and strange power to hold, is "The Call of the Blood;" but there is conveyed somehow the impression that the work is that of a woman; not that the book is weak, for it is full of strength; nor is it illogical; but on account of a wonderful sensitiveness and intuitive comprehension of causes, effects and influences.

For instance, what the heroine says of beauty to her good friend, the writer, is absolutely and wonderfully feminine in its understanding and viewpoint:

"Theory! Look here, Emile. I dare say it's difficult for a man like you, genius, insight and all, thoroughly to understand how an ugly woman regards beauty, an ugly woman like me, who's got intellect and passion and intense feeling for form, color, every manifestation of beauty. When I look at beauty, I feel rather like a dirty little beggar staring at an angel. My intellect doesn't seem to help me at all. In me, perhaps, the sensation arises from an inward conviction that humanity was meant originally to be beautiful, and that the ugly ones among us are—well, like sins among virtues."

Isn't that more the viewpoint of a strong woman?

Then this:

"Tetois, who, like most fine artists, was extremely susceptible to the influence of the place and of the hour, with its gift of light or darkness, began to lose in this larger atmosphere of mystery and vaguely visible movement the hitherto dominating sense of himself, to regain the more valuable and more mystical sense of life and its strange and pathetic relation with nature and the spirit behind nature, which often flouted upon him like a tide when he was creating, but which he was accustomed to hold sternly in leash."

The novel, with its picturesque people, its beautiful scenes and stirring conflicts, its olive trees, its fairs, its sea, is worthy to be called literature and placed in honorable position on the bookshelf.

Published by Harpers.

"Blindfolded," by Earle Ashley Walcott:

The American love of detective yarns will surely be amply satisfied by Earle Ashley Walcott's exciting novel "Blindfolded."

The scene of the story is laid principally in the disreputable quarters of San Francisco—portions now wiped out by the recent fire—and for this reason will be doubly interesting to Californians.

The hero of the tale is Giles Dudley, a brave and courageous youth who comes with his cousin, Henry Milton, to San Francisco, and is immediately entangled in a network of danger and crime. On the remarkable resemblance of the young men hangs the story.

Dudley has been in San Francisco long enough to discover that his cousin is engaged in some adventure both perilous and mysterious when Milton is murdered by his enemies. To this ghastly crime Giles is supposed to witness, and, determining to avenge the death of his relative, steps into Milton's shoes, accepting the latter's name and his duties.

Dudley's absolute unfamiliarity with the pitfalls of San Francisco, together with his ignorance of the cause of the murder add great interest to the tale. He learns that there is a mysterious child in the case, whom he is bound to protect and whose hiding place he, as Henry Milton, is supposed to know. Also he discovers that some great power is backing him, paying the expenses of his assistants. This sums up his knowledge of the situation.

His work carries him into strange corners of the city where he narrowly escapes death, time after time, through the kind intervention of an old hag who has taken a fancy to him. This description of this old creature is realistic:

"Behind the bar sat a woman whose appearance in that place almost startled me. She might have been nearing seventy, and a hard and evil life had left its marks on her bent frame and her gaunt face. Her leathery cheeks were lined deep, and a hawk-like nose emphasized the unpleasant suggestions conveyed by her face and figure. But the most remarkable feature about her was her eyes. There was no trace of age in them. Bright and keen as the eyes of a rat, they gave me an unpleasant thrill as I felt her gaze fixed upon me when I entered the door, arm in arm with Dickey. It was as though they had pierced me through, and had laid bare something I would have concealed. It was a relief to pass beyond her into a recessed part of the room where her gaze might waste itself on the back of my head."

Two terrible men influence his destiny greatly—one with "a strong, cruel, wolfish face—the face of a man near sixty, with a fierce yellow-gray mustache and imperial—a face broad at the temples and tapering down into a firm, unyielding jaw, and marked there with all the lines of rage, hatred and chagrin at the failure of his plans." The other is the "snake-eyed man."

The inevitable love-story winds its way through the volume which is well illustrated by Alice Barber Stevens.

Published by the Bobbs-Merrill Co., Indianapolis.

"The Cassowary," by Stanley Waterloo.

Stanley Waterloo, who accuses Jack London of plagiarism on account of the close resemblance of the latter's new work "Before Adam," to Waterloo's own book, "The Story of Ab," has brought out this year, "The Cassowary," a volume after the plan of the "Canterbury Tales," but not to be mentioned with them in point of interest.

A snow storm locks an east bound train in a pass of the Rocky Mountains. After moments of despair and worry the passengers gather together, forming of a society for their mutual amusement. Each of the characters—the Gallus youth, the minister, the explorer, the conductor, the porter the pleasant-faced lady, the commissioner, the lieutenant, and others—breaks through a natural reserve and tells to the group a story which has captured his fancy at some time. The yarns are very fair—the most humorous being that of "The Purple Stocking."

A bit of love story enters into the book, but it is of too vague a quality to hold the interest. The cover of the book must be noticed for its absolute hideousness.

Published by the Monarch Book Company, Chicago.

Among the high-class magazines must be mentioned "The Pacific Monthly" which, month by month steadily improves. The material in the December number is of excellent quality, while the illustrations are of merit. A very well written Canadian tale, containing a beautiful description of the Northern Lights, by Herman Whitaker, and a newspaper story by James Hopper, are the chief articles of worth. Mr. Hopper certainly displays remarkable talent, delicacy and artistic finish, which will some day place him on a pedestal.

"River and Jungle," by Edward S. Ellis. Published by the John C. Winston Company.

Dudley Mayson was the son of a missionary. His parents, accompanied by their little daughter Fannie, went to Siam to convert the natives of that country to Christianity. The boy Dudley was left in America with his grandparents to obtain an education. At the age of sixteen he finished the grammar grade and was ready to enter high school, but, instead, received permission to join his relatives in Siam. This all happened something over a decade ago, when traveling in that country was a very different proposition than it is at the present time.

Dudley was to have been met by his parents at Bangkok, but, instead, a "tall, athletic native, of swarthy complexion, bare-legged, wearing a turban, and with black eyes of serpent-like keenness" awaited his arrival.

The Mayson home, at the missionary station, was several days' journey on foot from Bangkok, through a jungle inhabited by wild animals and crawling serpents. And it is this part of the story which is told in detail, ending with Dudley's safe arrival home, after a number of exciting encounters with the denizens of the jungle.

Among the other animals a white elephant, regarded as holy by Siamese, is encountered by the American boy and his guide. The two resolve to remain in the jungle and make captive this prize, but their hunting expedition is made the subject of another story told by the same author, and entitled "The Hunt of the White Elephant: A Sequel to 'River and Jungle.'"

"The Giant Scissors," by Annie Fellows Johnston. (L. C. Page & Company, Boston.)

Among the numerous holiday editions of books for girls and boys, not one is more alluring than "The Giant Scissors."

It is the story of a little American girl who spent a year in France with her aunt Kate.

The two made their home in an old French villa across the city of Tours. Here Joyce made the acquaintance of a little boy named Jules, who lived in a mansion opposite, and who proved to be an American by birth, though of French descent.

Through Joyce many remarkable things happen, among them being the restoration to her family of Jules' great aunt, Desire, whom everybody thought had died in America. Joyce made her acquaintance at "The Little Sisters of the Poor," and one day, while telling Jules about her, was overheard by his Uncle Martin. This occurred in the holiday season, so that the Aunt Desire was brought home in time to witness the lighting of a wonderful Christmas tree.

"The Giant Scissors," in which the authoress exhibits the same charm of re-cital as in her other stories for children, is one of the "Little Colonel" series.

The publishers announce this book to be a story of adventure, full of exciting incidents. There is a mad search for gold bullion, originally stolen from the Boer government in Pretoria and stored in a steamer sunk somewhere in the Mozambique channel. Two different searching parties are endeavoring to secure the treasure, and the story deals with their adventures and its final recovery by one party only a few hours before the arrival of the second.

There is a "woman in the case," Margaret Lawrie, daughter of a missionary, whom she is not unlike. Her father loses his life while guarding the secret of the hiding place of this treasure, but Margaret, in whom he has confided, is not deterred from accompanying one of the searching parties in their dangerous undertaking. A love episode, of which she is the heroine, lends additional interest to the story, which opens in Lincoln, Nebraska, and ends in New York, with Hongkong and the high seas sandwiched between.

In the end Elliott, who is not altogether a bad sort, led perhaps by the example of Margaret, turns over to the government his share of the booty, receiving in return salvage which enables him to live forever a life of ease.

POLICE GUARD RARE BRICKS

Products of Holland Kiln to Reface New York Tavern.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—A strange consignment of 14,000 precious bricks which are being carefully guarded by the police was received in New York this week. They were not gold bricks, as the unwary might suspect, but plain, small, white bricks, of an old-fashioned appearance straight from Holland from a kiln which has been making them without change for 250 years. They are to be used by the Sons of the Revolution in their work of repairing in its original style the old Fraunces Tavern at Broad and Pearl streets, so that it may present the same appearance as it did when Washington bade farewell to his officers there. Since then the first wall has been torn out to make a show window for a store which afterward became a saloon, and in the work of restoring it as a club house, its patriotic owners were confronted with the problem of securing small white bricks for facing it in the original style.

A fruitless search revealed the fact that these were not to be obtained in this country and the Sons were almost despairing when it was discovered that fifteen miles outside of Rotterdam, in Holland, the identical factory which made the original bricks 206 years ago was still doing business at the old stand and the bricks were ordered accordingly.

Stylish Glasses

Your glasses may as well look right. To get them right get them first hand from those who make them.

Do you know anyone who wears two pairs of glasses or the old time bifocals with the piece patched on? Advise them to see the Kryptok, the new glass which does away with two pairs entirely.

Our thoroughly experienced opticians will explain them to you.

WALL STREET STOCKS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—American securities were higher in London today, but there was a double of the response to this influence in the opening trading here. Prices moved irregularly and western railroad stocks were under pressure. Northern Pacific fell 1½. Union Pacific and Smelting a point, and St. Paul, Atchison and Reading ⅝. Mexican Central rose ⅝.

Fitful fluctuations were followed by a general sagging of prices, but the losses in the active stocks were not large except in special cases. St. Paul, Reading and Kansas & Texas fell off 1, Union Pacific 1⅛ and Great Northern preferred 2.

Prices went lower than in the first hour, but support was forthcoming and a rally followed in spite of a rate of 28 per cent for call money. Great Northern preferred fell 3⅛. Northen Pacific 2¼, Great Northern ore certificates 1¼ to 1⅜. Atchison, Missouri Pacific, Wisconsin Central, Hocking Valley Coal and North American 1. Reading scored a full recovery. United States Rubber and American cable rose 1.

Bonds were heavy.

Complete recoveries were made in several instances before the rally stopped, including St. Paul and Northen Pacific. The market became exceedingly quiet and fell off gradually. Great Northern preferred broke 3 and New York, Chicago & St Louis and American Ice Securities 1. United States Rubber got up 1½.

JUMPS FROM BOTTOM TO THE TOP OF TRIBUNE LIST

GEORGE E. FRENCH, popular union man.

G. E. French Is Making a Hard and Early Fight for the Fine Residence Lot.

The over Sunday voting was very heavy, as may be seen by the many changes in the list today. A few signified their intention to see friends yesterday, which had the effect of swelling the totals of not a few.

Everyone has seen that it is an easy matter to obtain a few subscriptions, consequently no candidate is discouraged by the sight of his or her rivals passing them for a few days. At the same time, it is a good thing to be well up in front in the procession. Then your friends see your name among the first and want to see it at the head. Then all you have to do is to get a few of them to pay their subscription for a year and you secure the coveted place.

This is a spirit in which all those who covet a prize should work. Nearly everyone throughout the county takes THE TRIBUNE. When their attention is brought to the fact that just by paying their subscriptions in advance it will be another point or two toward the prize, without a doubt they will do you this favor.

If you don't obtain their subscriptions it is ten chances to one that someone else will go else tie them up with a good, big promise. Some of the candidates have a little book in which they write down all their promises. Just now before Xmas is the time when your labor counts for the most.

George E. French, whose likeness appears above, is making rapid strides towards the goal and has already forged his way from that of being last on the list to first, thus heading, so far, the list of union men in the great TRIBUNE paper contest for the $750 residence lot. Mr. French is a strong union man, being an active member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers No. 283. He has been in the employ of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company for seven years, a credit to himself as well as to his employers.

DROPPED LAW FOR STAGE

Guy Bates Post Owes His Success to the Late Kirke La Schelle.

Two young artists who owe most of their professional advancement to the late Kirke La Shelle, will be seen in the opposite leading roles of "The Heir to the Horrah," when that merry comedy returns to the Macdonough theater next Thursday night. Guy Bates Post, the featured star of the Armstrong comedy, began life as an usher and an opera-glass boy in the old Grand Opera House in Seattle. He studied law, was admitted to the bar in the State of Washington, but following an early ambition chose the stage as his metier, making his first appearance in the West with Kyrle Bellew and Cora Urquhart Porter, in "Antony and Cleopatra."

Miss Janet Beecher, who plays Geraldine Lacy, in "The Heir to the Hoorah," was, as Miss Martha Meisenberg, a well-known society girl of Chicago, and a school friend of Mrs. Kirke La Shelle. The failure of the family fortunes prompted her to adopt the stage as a livlihood, and Mr. La Shelle gave her her first opportunity as the Gibson Girl in Augustus Thomas' comedy, "The Education of Mr. Pipp," she adopting the stage name of Janet Beecher at the time of her debut.

ROOSEVELT GIVES LIE TO STORER IN HARSH LETTER

Denies He Authorized Ambassador to Seek Archbishop Ireland's Promotion.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—President Roosevelt has issued his reply from the White House to Bellamy Storer, recently deposed as United States Ambassador to the court of Vienna, and to Mrs. Maria Storer. The reply is the second chapter of the most extraordinary international controversy ever written—so extraordinary that, by reason of the President's reckless introduction of irrevelant matter that one does not know whether it is a tragedy or a comedy. It is a new kind of State Department "red book." It contains more ill-temper and less argument than has ever yet appeared in a quasi-serious communication to Secretary Root.

The rejoinder of the President bristles with harsh language, a very uncommon occurrance, as a great deal of the reply is really pointed to Mrs Storer, with whom he was once on the most affectionate terms socially and, apparently, officially.

ACCUSES STORER.

The President accuses Storer, conjointly with Mrs. Storer, of being "simply dishonorable." Another heated reference is to the "marvelous treachery" of Mr. Storer. Then he dubs Mrs Storer "peculiarly perfidious," he says in an anti-climax that Storer is a "disingenuous."

The reply is disappointing, considering that the real and essential point at issue is, did the President verbally or otherwise mix up in Vatican politics, and, specifically, in the ambition to have Archbishop Ireland elevated to the cardinalate? If so, what was the matter with the Storers doing the same thing?

The President's answer to the charge or statement, that he did not so interfere is not direct or positive. It is inferential. A great deal of the statements of the President are ex cathdra, including the strong language and objurations and lectures to "my dear Maria." It is admitted that the President has in some respects but the Storers in a bad light, but there is no question that the President could at a very early stage of the game put an end to all negotiations approved or not approved by him, in which the Storers were concerned, by a mere cablegram, "Stop it."

Instead of that, however, there are shown by Mrs. Storer many letters in which the most delicate international subjects are discussed by the President with the lady half of the Vienna Embassy.

ASSUMES ROLE OF MENTOR.

The President assumes in his letters rather the role of mentor to the wife of an American Ambassador than the President of the United States with real power to prevent any lady from embroiling the United States with Vienna Paris or Rome. What excuse can the President make for tolerating the Storers so long, if they were intermeddling in delicate politics?

The President, it will be noted, is mad all the way through with Mrs. Storer, and he tells things she did and said which have really nothing to do with the essential issue about Archbishop Ireland.

SUPERVISORS AWARD BID FOR VOTING MACHINES

The Dean Ballot Appliance Company of Minneapolis Will Supply Them at $750 Apiece.

By three votes, vouchsafed by Chairman Mitchell, J. M. Kelley and Charles T. Horner, the Board of Supervisors this morning accepted a bid which will provide Alameda county with voting machains. The bid was awarded to the Dean Ballot Machine Company of Minneapolis, which will furnish the machines at $750 apiece.

The bid was not accepted without slight dissension, which was produced by the negative vote of Supervisor Rowe of the Fourth district and the request of Supervisor Talcott to be excused from voting, as he was not present when the machines had been first taken up by the board.

The bid as advertised and accepted calls for a number of machines ranging from 1 to 150. It is understood 150 will be ordered. These, added to the fifty machines now in use throughout the county will suffice to accommodate all the voters of the districts with which the Supervisors have to do.

The Dean Ballot Machine Company, though by inference of their bid a Minneapolis concern, is in reality a local company, as Oakland capitalists control the stock. The president of the company is Thomas H. Williams Jr., president of the Western Jockey Club. Its secretary is George W. Reed, formerly member of the firm of Reed & Nusbaumer.

Senator F. W. Leavitt and Emil Nusbaumer presented the bid and were present at its acceptance. Theirs was the only bid offered.

Supervisor Rowe in objecting to the bid, gave as his reasons that the next election is four years distant and the price of the machines is too high.

The machines formerly purchased by the county cost $625 apiece.

The machine when purchased will be outright, without any lien or lease.

The Dean Company deposited a $20,000 bond to insure its delivery of the machines in four installments between the present date and 1908.

JOAQUIN'S LAST ROMANCE

Poet of the Sierras Has Become Reconciled to His Third Wife at Saratoga.

Another romantic episode has come into the picturesque life of Joaquin Miller. After years of separation the grizzle-bearded Poet of the Sierra has reached a reconciliation with his third wife.

Their daughter Juanita brought her parents together. For a long time she had been writing to her father urging him to come East for a visit. Finally she gained his promise that he would make his summer home with her at Saratoga, in New York State.

So Joaquin Miller turned his face from the sunset sea, from the glories of the ruddy evening glow over the Golden Gate, and left his quaint retreat on the heights back of Piedmont.

Shortly after his arrival Mrs. Miller gave a large reception at her beautiful cottage in Saratoga. To the assembled individuals she explained Joaquin's long absence from her side by saying that he had been busy lecturing and writing in the West.

Now she and her daughter are offering every inducement to keep the veteran poet in Saratoga, where they may minister to the needs of his declining years. But thus far Joaquin has consented only to consider Saratoga his summer home. He is too fond of California, where the best years of his life have been spent, where most of his poems have received their local coloring, where he recalls vividly the picturesque scenes he has expressed in verses, starting:

"In the days of old, the days of gold, the days of forty-nine."

Even the old poet's name—Joaquin—is only his by poetical adoption. He assumed that distinctively Spanish appellation years ago. Then he was a member of an Indian tribe in Northern California. The chief had given the white youth his daughter in marriage. When the settlers caught occasional glimpses of a white man riding with the Indian raiders they supposed it was the notorious bandit, Joaquin Murrieta. Later, when Miller's Indian wife was shot during a punitive counter-raid by white settlers, the old Chief sent Joaquin Miller safely down the Sacramento in a boat. Eventually the future poet was captured in Mexico as a participant in the Nicaragua filibustering expedition. He was pardoned at the Mexican capital, through the intercession of sympathetic dames who were attracted by his bearing and his apparent youth.

It was years later that Joaquin made a literary hit in England and suddenly became a lion in London salons. When he returned to New York he continued on all occasions to wear the striking costume of the typical pioneer miner—red-flannel shirt, high-top boots and big, black slouch hat.

GOLDEN AGE IS AT HAND

Gotham Has An Alchemist Who Can Make Diamonds Out of Glue.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—New York now has a real alchemist in her midst, and if the assertions of one John Raffel be true, Wall street can shortly give up making money and take to making gold. Every one can be as rich as he likes, apparently, for the process of acquiring the yellow metal is a simple one, according to Mr. Raffel. All that is necessary is to bury a chunk of copper with some "doradium" and eighteen weeks later to dig up the lump of pure gold. Silver can be transmuted, too, but it takes one year and eighteen weeks, according to the professor, and therefore is not likely to become popular. Of course, the secret of the whole thing lies in the "doradium," the makeup of which Mr. Raffel keeps to himself. He has, however, written to the Secretary of the Treasury at Washington concerning his discovery, and is even now ready to open negotiations for its sale to Wall street interests. Of course, if Wall street does get hold of the secret, the "common people" can expect little profit from it, and it is therefore to be hoped that Mr. Raffel will reconsider and decide to allow the entire country to participate in this easy method of getting rich.

If there ever was a specific for any one complaint, then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. Only one pill a dose. Try them.

TO SWEAR OFF TIPPING

Philadelphia Commercial Travelers Have Entered Compact to Give No Tips

Ought the traveling public to hand out tips and to pay the wages of the porters on the sleeping cars? Ought a long haired poet be required to fee his hair cutter as well as pay the master barber who runs the shop Cannot a hungry man get a meal and have it properly served without paying both the restaurateur and the waiter Why is it that in the lushers of either high or low degree a free born American citizen cannot reach out his hat with his coat without being held up by the man with the itching palm? Women are not so easily victimized as men but if things go on a little longer as they have been going they will be unable to buy a yard of ribbon or a pound of tea without tipping the other clerk who stands behind the counter When that time comes there will be a reform strike enough thorough and far reaching and permanent

In the meantime some of the sterner sex are going to arm themselves and at a meeting of traveling men have formed a society to fight against the tipping evil They know what services and courtesies they ought to receive from those who minister to their physical comforts and get them without the least hesitancy to tender a dollar bill which has not the effect to increase the young woman's interest for keeping unseemly hours on the public streets

B H Meyer of the Lehigh Valley president of the society He wants everybody to join and he feels certain that so far at least as the traveling men are concerned the tipping evil can be abolished If its effort and concentration of energy and assertiveness to push the hand into the pocket for small change it ever did out will accomplish the desired results in his opinion Good luck to him and his associates They are going into battle for the benefit of all

MESSAGE OF PRESIDENT

What Roosevelt Has to Say on Porto Rico Questions of Importance.

sentatives, who have administered the tropic islands which came under our flag as a result of the war with Spain and of no one of them is this more true than of Porto Rico It would be impossible to wish a more faithful a more efficient and a more disinterested public service than that now being rendered in the island of Porto Rico by those in control of the insular government

STOPPED AT DOZEN TOWNS.

I stopt at a dozen towns all told and one of the notable features in every town was the gathering of the school children The work that has been done in Porto Rico for education has been noteworthy The main emphasis as is eminently wise and proper has been put upon primary education but in addition to this there is a normal school an agricultural school three industrial and three high schools Every effort is being made to secure not only the benefits of elementary education to all the Porto Ricans of the next generation but also as far as means will permit to train them so that the industrial agricultural and commercial opportunities of the island can be utilized to the best possible advantage It was evident at a glance that the teachers both Americans and native Porto Ricans were devoted to their work took the greatest pride in it and were endeavoring to train their pupils not only in mind but in what counts for far more than mind in citizenship that is in character

POLICE REFLECTS CREDIT.

I was very much struck by the excellent character both of the insular police and of the Porto Rican regiment They are both of them bodies that reflect credit upon the American administration of the island The insular police are under the local Porto Rican government The Porto Rican regiment of troops must be appropriated for by the Congress I earnestly hope that this body will be kept permanent There should certainly be troops in the island and it is wise that these troops should be themselves native Porto Ricans It would be from every standpoint a mistake not to perpetuate this regiment

SUGAR AND TOBACCO

In traversing the island even the most cursory survey leaves the beholder struck with the evident rapid growth in the culture both of the sugar cane and tobacco The fruit industry is also growing Last year was the most prosperous year that the island has ever known before or since the American occupation The total of exports and imports of the island was forty five millions of dollars as against eighteen millions in 1901 This is the largest in the islands history Prior to the American occupation the greatest trade for any one year was that of 1896 when it reached nearly twenty-three millions of dollars Last year therefore there was double the trade that there was in the most prosperous year under the Spanish regime There were 210,273 tons of sugar exported last year of the value of $14,186,319, $[illegible] of tobacco and 8,290,322 pounds of coffee of the value of $3,481,10[illegible] Unfortunately what used to be Porto Rico's prime crop—coffee—has not shared this prosperity It has never recovered from the disaster of the hurricane and moreover the benefit of throwing open our market to it has not compensated for the loss inflicted by the closing of the markets to it abroad I call your attention to the accompanying memorial on this subject of the Board of Trade of San Juan and I earnestly hope that some measure will be taken for the benefit of the excellent and high grade Porto Rican coffee

RECEIVES DELEGATIONS

In addition to delegations from the Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce of San Juan I also received delegations from the Porto Rican Federation of Labor and from the Coffee Growers Association

FOR AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP

There is a matter to which I wish to call your special attention and that is the desirability of conferring full American citizenship upon the people of Porto Rico I most earnestly hope that this will be done I can not see how any harm can possibly result from it and it seems to me a matter of right and justice to the people of Porto Rico They like us to feel that they are glad to be under our flag they are making rapid progress along the path of orderly liberty Surely we should show our appreciation of them and paid in what they have done and our pleasure in extending recognition for what has thus been done by granting them full American citizenship

WISE ADMINISTRATION

Under the wise administration of the present governor and council marked progress has been made in the difficult matter of granting to the people of the island the largest measure of self government that can with safety be given at the present time It would have been a very serious mistake to have gone any faster than we have already gone in this direction The Porto Ricans have complete and absolute autonomy in all their municipal governments the only power over them possessed by the insular government being that of removing corrupt or incompetent municipal officials This power has never been exercised save on the clearest proof of corruption or of incompetence—such as to jeopardize the interests of the people of the island and under such circumstances it has been fearlessly used to the immense benefit of the people It is not a power with which it would be safe for the sake of the island itself to dispense at present The lower house is absolutely elective while the upper house is appointive This scheme is working well no injustice of any kind results from it and great benefit to the island and it should certainly not be changed at this time The machinery of the election is administered entirely by the Porto Rican people themselves the governor and council keeping only such supervision as is necessary in order to insure an orderly election Any protest as to electoral frauds is settled in the courts Here again it would not be safe to make any change in the present system The elections this year were absolutely orderly unaccompanied by any disturbance and no protest has been made against the management of the elections although three contests are threatened where the majorities were very small and error was claimed the contests of course to be settled in the courts In short the governor and council are co operating with all of the most enlightened and most patriotic of the people of Porto Rico in educating the citizens of the island in the principles of orderly liberty They are providing a government based upon each citizen's self respect and the mutual respect of all citizens that is based upon a rigid observance of the principles of justice and honesty It has not been easy to instil into the minds of people unaccustomed to the exercise of freedom the two basic principles of our American system the principle that the majority must rule and the principle that the minority has rights which must not be disregarded or trampled upon Yet real progress has been made in having these principles accepted as elementary as the foundation of successful self government

TRANSMITS REPORT

I transmit herewith the report of the Governor of Porto Rico sent to the President through the Secretary of State

All the insular governments should be placed in one bureau either in the Department of War or the Department of State It is a mistake not so to arrange our handling of those islands at Washington as to be able to take advantage of the experience gained in one when dealing with the problems that from time to time arise in another

In conclusion let me express my admiration for the work done by the Congress when it enacted the law under which the island is now being administered After seeing the island personally and after five years experience in connection with its administration it is but fair to those who devised the law to say that it would be well nigh impossible to have devised any other which in the actual working would have accomplished better results

PLURAL MARRIAGE PERFORMED

He went on Plural marriages are performed in secret in darkened rooms on the highways remote from habitation

Coming to the conclusion of [illegible] with the hierarchy Mr Burrows said that practically all of its members were polygamists when he became a member

The ciefal question therefore, is he said can one become a member of and identify himself with a band of lawbreakers knowing them to be such participate in their councils and sustain them in their conferences and yet escape all responsibility for their [illegible] acts? Such a contention will not stand the test of the law or reason

DEFIES THE STATUTES.

The senator's complicity in encouraging polygamy and polygamous cohabitation does not consist wholly in the fact that he is one of the governing body of that church By repeated acts he has as a member of the quorum of the twelve apostles given active aid and spirit to the hierarchy in its defiance of the statutes of the State and the laws of common decency and his encouragement of the polygamous practices by both precept and example

Senator Burrows concluded as follows

It is admitted that the senator by becoming a member of and identifying himself with such an organization and participating in its functions has disqualified himself for membership in this body An organization that fosters and encourages crime tramples upon all law human and divine practices polygamy and polygamous cohabitation desecrates the home degrades womanhood debauches public morals strikes at the Christian civilization of this age undermines and shakes the foundations of human society and government destroys the sanctity of the marriage relation defies the authority of the State and national government, registers an oath of hostility to the American nation and brings the name and face of the good people of Utah into disrepute and shame and humiliation to the American people—I submit that such an organization is not entitled to have its representative in the Senate of the United States and I therefore ask the adoption of the resolution

EIGHTY LIVES ARE IN DANGER

Alameda Car and Southern Pacific Train Nearly Collide —Narrow Escape.

eral of the women were bruised by the crush and many of the men sustained lacerations by jumping into the ditches to safety

At 7 55 this morning the Alameda car manned by a conductor whose name is Irish or who is so nicknamed, and a motorman whose name has not been ascertained, slipped its trolley on the Webster street curve when the narrow gaug train was but a hundred yards distant

MEN JUMP OUT.

Immediately the men seated outside and those standing jumped from the car leaving the women and children inside to their peril

The conductor unmindful of himself crushed his way through the frenzied men and finally succeeded in placing the trolley and the motorman instantly turned on full power not a second late

E A Heather of 1611 Union street one of the imperiled passengers, telling of the danger said

PASSENGER'S STORY.

"The car was crowded inside and outside The men were seated and standing outside and inside was filled with women and children who sought shelter from the rain

Just as the car had gone a few feet on the curve the trolley slipped off and we saw the narrow gauge coming at full speed about one hundred yards away

'Most of the men jumped into the ditches near the track The women screamed and crushed so madly to the doors none of them got out In the meantime the conductor called 'Irish' was replacing the trolley He and the motorman stayed with the car bravely and if it were not for them every one of us would have been killed

The scene of the plight of crowded train and car is at the curve on Webster street situated near the United Engineering Works

LACKS PROTECTION.

The Southern Pacific train crosses the car track at the curve and commuters have for a long time predicted a terrible loss of life because of the lack of protection by a gate at the point

The officials of the Southern Pacific Company and the Oakland Traction Company are investigating to ascertain the cause of the night collision

SENATE WANTS TO KNOW

Refuses to Confirm Nominations of Cortelyou and Garfield Until Explained.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Before the Senate confirms the nomination of Cortelyou as Secretary of Treasury, and Garfield as Secretary of the Interior, the Senate committee on finance will insist on learning from the President when Secretaries Shaw and Hitchcock intend to retire The committee today declined to favorably report these nominations until word has been received from the President

MILLION DOLLARS' DAMAGE IS DONE

among the refugees who are living in tents in the various parks about the city, it was only temporary, as they were immediately furnished with dry clothing and blankets by the Relief Corporation

REFUGEES SUFFER.

In cases where tents or other improvised shelters were blown down the refugees were provided with more substantial habitations

According to Alexander McAdie, forecaster of the local weather bureau, considerable more rain may be expected during the next 48 hours in the region about San Francisco and in the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys

The showers that fell today were accompanied by a southwest wind Computations made at the local weather bureau show that during the 24 hours ending at 5 o'clock this morning more than two inches of rain fell in this city

This precipitation is one of the heaviest that has been experienced in many years, although the records show that the heaviest rainfall was on December 19 1866, when 4 28 inches fell

HOUSE-BOATS SUFFER.

Reports from Belvedere show that many of the house-boats located in the cove there suffered greatly from the storm An ark belonging to Robert White was blown away from its moorings and submerged

A number of other arks broke away from anchorage and were considerably damaged by pounding against the wharves

More than twenty-five lives hung on the sixth sense of Conductor Metzger of the Sansome street line yesterday during the worst of the storm Had he not been visited with a strange premonition of danger a number of mangled corpses might have been dragged from beneath a fallen wall at Sansome and Bush streets

HAVE NARROW ESCAPE.

The escape of the passengers was due to the fact that the conductor felt that some mishap might occur and that he ordered the car to proceed just a moment before the wall fell When the wall fell it covered the track with masonry and steel girders that would have crushed the car with its load of passengers like an eggshell

TWO STREET 'BOY GOVERNORS

The accidental meeting of two western ex-governors offers an instance of the success of American institutions of which the first aim is to give to every soul a fair chance to develop Fifty years ago two street waifs of New York did not seem to have a fair start in the world John Brady was, as he says "a little Mick,' with no home but the streets, and "Andy" Burke had the same home They were friends Sent as homeless boys to an institution on 'the island,' they heard an official read a letter from another waif who had been sent to Indiana The letter told of the wonders of farm life and impressed them so deeply that they clambered aboard a train for the West Burke reached North Dakota, where in the course of years, he was elected governor Brady went to Alaska, where, after "striking it," he was appointed governor At Kansas City a few days ago they greeted each other

In the northern departments, people refrain from slamming doors sharply on this day lest they should hurt an invisible spirit entering, and the children are forbidden to throw stones into the hedges or trees for fear that the missiles should wound the soul of some departed relation or friend hovering about in them.

In Alsace little lamps, lanterns and glimmering tapers arranged in the form of a cross are seen burning all night long close to the ground in many a cemetery. They are destined to re-

that the medical quacks are advertising a radium cure This reminds me of a certain nostrum vendor in New York who when he first heard of liquid air remarked to a friend "Now that's something like it, if we can bottle fresh air we can sell carloads of it Like the radium quacks, he counted on the popularity of a new discovery that no one exactly understood If everyone understood it the thing would be too common to be good In the words of a German professor to his class, "Try them while they cure" Popularity is evanescent, unless it be Lehnhardt's fruit ices It's hardly likely they will pall on the public taste.
